ROSENBERGS EXECUTED AS SPIES

Truce Delegates Hold Crisis-Laden Session

Reds Blast POWs' Release, Call Meeting

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, June 20 (AP)—The Communists today delivered a strongly worded protest against South Korean President Syngman Rhee's release of 26,000 anti-Red prisoners.

The Red truce delegation demanded immediate recovery of the prisoners who fled Thursday and Friday into the crowded cities and desolate hills of South Korea.

The Communist spokesman charged that the United Nations Command "deliberately connived with Rhee to free the prisoners."

MUNSAN, Saturday, June 20 (AP)—Communist and Allied truce delegates meet today on Red demand in a crisis-laden session that may determine the immediate fate of the Korean War armistice.

Angry Communist broadcasts indicated a stormy session as a result of South Korea's defiant release of nearly 26,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners of war.

Communist radio stations in China and North Korea accused the U. S. Army of "connivance" in the mass escapes.

The Reds yesterday curtly demanded a full-dress truce session at Panmunjom at 11 a.m. today (9 p.m. Friday, EST), and the Allies agreed.

Bitter Red Reaction Seen

Observers here expected the Communist reaction to the prisoner escapes to be bitter. With the 26,000 prisoners gone, the POW compounds now contain only about 21,000 of the 47,000 captives which the United Nations had said would forcibly resist return to communism. Of those remaining, more than 14,000 are Chinese.

The truce, more than two years in the making, has hinged on disposal of the reluctant prisoners. The armistice draft, almost ready for signature, provides for turning over the prisoners refusing repatriation to a five-nation neutral commission.

The Red radios, brushing aside South Korean President Syngman Rhee's statement he took full responsibility for the mass escapes, declared that American troops took no measures to prevent the breakouts.

Didn't Want "Blood Bath"

American officers said that to have opposed the breakouts with arms would have resulted in a "blood bath." In a breakout at one POW camp yesterday 40 North Korean anti-Red prisoners died, some of them in clashes with U. S. soldiers and Marine guards.

Early speculation was that the Communist reaction to the prisoners escape might take two courses:

1. To break up the truce talks with loud and bitter charges that the U. N. Command was attempting to hold war prisoners against their will. This has been the Red contention in the past.

2. Protest bitterly but go ahead and sign the truce and demand that the U. N. Command produce the prisoners.

Ike Slaps Rhee For Releasing Anti-Red POWs

SEOUL, Saturday, June 20 (AP)—Peiping radio filled the air today with angry blasts at the mass release of anti-Red North Korean prisoners ordered by President Syngman Rhee, who received a stinging rebuke from President Eisenhower.

Nearly 26,000 North Korean prisoners were on the loose somewhere in South Korea. They were promised money, food and medical aid by South Korean officials meeting in secret session at Pusan, temporary capital.

U. S. patrols searched half-heartedly for the prisoners, unwilling to shed the blood of these foes of communism but mindful that Rhee's drastic move might spell ruin for an armistice just as it was in sight.

U. S. "Connivance" Charged

After denouncing the mass release and charging the U. S. Army "connived with the Syngman Rhee gang," Peiping reported that the Communists had "demanded" today's full dress meeting of the truce delegates at Panmunjom.

The South Korean President received in silence a cable from Eisenhower declaring Rhee had violated United Nations' Command authority in ordering the release of the North Korean prisoners.

The facts were these: Only about 9,000 anti-Red North Koreans remained in Allied custody whereas the Allies had agreed to turn over more than three times that number to a neutral nations repatriation commission under terms of the proposed armistice.

Flee From Eight Camps

Between midnight and dawn Thursday, more than 24,000 prisoners aided by South Korean guards stampeded out of four camps and vanished into the camps and hills of South Korea.

Then Thursday night and early yesterday, nearly 2,000 more anti-Communist prisoners broke from four other camps and from two camps where escapes had been made the previous night.

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—James J. Braddock, former world heavyweight boxing champion, today was named executive sports director of the Hebrew Boys Home in New York.

Convicted Atom Spies Reach End Of The Road

Sing Sing Prison's electric chair last night snuffed out the lives of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg (above) for their part in an international atomic espionage conspiracy exposed in 1950. Julius died first, at 8:06 EDT, and his wife followed him in death at 8:16. The executions came after the Supreme Court and President Eisenhower yesterday decreed that the spy team should die for betraying atomic secrets to Russia.

Wife Follows Husband To Chair With Neither Showing Any Emotion

First Civilians In American History To Pay Supreme Penalty For Espionage

The first to die was Julius Rosenberg, who was pronounced dead at 7:06 p. m. (EST).

Ethel Rosenberg followed her husband and was pronounced dead at 7:16 p. m.

Neither husband nor wife said anything before they died.

They were the first civilians in American history to be executed for espionage. They were convicted of betraying American atomic secrets to Russia.

Julius died after three jolts. He was placed in the chair at 7:04 p. m. and was pronounced dead two and three-quarter minutes later.

Wife Requires Five Jolts

His wife, however, required five jolts, and the time was 4½ minutes.

The pair, who maintained an unemotional front throughout the day, went to their deaths a day after their 14th wedding anniversary and a few minutes before the start of the Hebrew Sabbath.

As Mrs. Rosenberg entered the death chamber, she was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Evans, prison matron, and Mrs. Lucy Many, a telephone operator.

Mrs. Rosenberg turned just before she was placed in the electric chair, drew Mrs. Evans toward her and they kissed.

The Rosenbergs displayed no emotion whatever.

Rabbi Intones 23rd Psalm

He was intoning the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

"Though I walk in the shadow of death, I shall fear no evil."

The rabbi was in his rabbinical robe.

Rosenberg was not supported by the guards.

His step was steady.

The leather mask covering his face, the helmet over his head and the electrodes to his right leg, were then attached.

The first shock lasted three seconds. The two following lasted 57 seconds each.

Doctors Step Forward

Two doctors, Dr. H. W. Kipp and Dr. George McCracken, stepped forward.

They tore the undershirt covering Rosenberg's chest. The two physicians applied stethoscopes and Dr. Kipp said:

"I pronounce this man dead."

In death, Rosenberg's face had the same staring, wondering expression that he had worn when he walked into the chamber.

Again the room was silent.

There were 10 witnesses, counting the three newspapermen, present.

A guard opened the door leading to the Death House an inch or two. He looked out.

A moment later the low voice of Rabbi Koslowe again could be heard.

He walked slowly ahead of Mrs. Rosenberg. He was intoning the 15th and 31st Psalms.

He held his prayer book as he walked.

His low, melodious voice was singing:

"Who shalt sojourn in Thy tabernacle."

The matron and the telephone operator were behind Mrs. Rosenberg.

Mrs. Rosenberg, Matron Kiss

She took one step.

Then she turned suddenly to Mrs.

2,000 Berliners Raid Red Office In U. S. Sector

BERLIN, June 20 (AP)—A crowd of 2,000 Germans, aroused by events in East Germany, raided a Communist (Socialist Unity) party office in the U. S. sector late today and forced several Red officials to flee through a back door.

Furniture, propaganda publications and pictures of Stalin and Communist East German leaders were thrown in the street and burned. West Berlin police reported they made no arrests.

The outburst developed as a wave of arrests by the Communist people's police spurred rebellious East Germans back to work.

Tension increased tonight when Communist police shot a West Berlin businessman as he unwittingly stepped into Soviet territory near Potsdamer Platz.

Kindel had been walking along Stresemannstrasse where the buildings are American but the sidewalk is under Russian control.

Meanwhile, an explosion and fire broke out tonight in a war ruin on the Soviet side of Eberstrasse—used as a military outpost. Shots and screams were heard. The opposite side of Eberstrasse is British.

People's police arrested scores from among 680 East Berliners who tried to return to their homes from the West tonight at three border crossing points opened up for them by the Soviet command. Those seized were accused of rioting.

Some 1,300 other East Berliners stayed in the West.

Soviet martial law still gripped key cities in East Germany, but Communists said the general strike that developed Wednesday amid riotous demonstrations against Red rule is now dead.

The flaming character of the workers' uprising was indicated by scattered reports of turmoil and sabotage reaching the West. The full story may take weeks to come out.

Ridgway Urges 2-Year NATO Service Period

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 19 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, on a farewell tour of his NATO command in Europe, emphatically called on all Atlantic Pact nations today to increase their military service period to 24 months.

His words, at a news conference at the Foreign Ministry, caused a stir among Danes, who recalled that hundreds of Danish soldiers mutinied a few months ago in protest against extension of the service period from 12 months to 18. Political sources said there was "practically no chance" of persuading public opinion in this country of accepting a 24-month period.

A-Spy Asked Ike For Mercy Shortly Before Her Death

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—The futile battle to save the lives of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg came to its climax tonight literally in President Eisenhower's own hands minutes before the atomic spies perished in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison.

Less than half an hour before the Rosenbergs went to their deaths, Mr. Eisenhower read and rejected the plea for mercy written to him by Mrs. Rosenberg in her death cell June 16 and delivered at the White House by Defense Counsel Emanuel Bloch at 7 p. m.

Thus, with Bloch raging futilely in a series of telephone attempts to gain access to the White House, the Rosenberg tragedy came to an end—except for the macabre epilogue at Sing Sing.

Compressed into the day which brought the grim end of the nation's most celebrated spy case and doom to the Rosenbergs was almost unbearable tension and incredible drama.

The Supreme Court, convened in special session Thursday at the government's demand after Justice Douglas on Wednesday issued a surprise stay of execution, sounded the actual death knell in a 6-2 decision overruling Douglas.

Approximately 500 pickets paraded before the White House to protest the death of the Rosenbergs learned of the executions when a cheer went up from a throng in Lafayette Park across Pennsylvania Avenue.

Shortly afterward the picketers marched slowly down the street to board buses several blocks away.

High U.S. Official, Rhee To Discuss Armistice Crisis

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS) — A High State Department official is flying to Korea Sunday at the invitation of South Korean President Syngman Rhee to discuss the truce crisis.

High sources disclosed tonight that Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, will undertake the trip as part of a determined U. S. effort to drive through to an armistice.

Dulles, Envoys Confer

These same sources said Secretary of State Dulles told both the United Nations ambassadors and congressional leaders in separate meetings today that all efforts are geared to attaining an acceptable truce despite all obstacles.

One of the chief difficulties may be Rhee's sudden decision, on his own, to release 25,000 anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Dulles called a special meeting of ambassadors from all the countries having troops in Korea but South Korea's representative did not attend.

The emergency session, first announced by the White House, presumably was called for a discussion of the POW releases.

Speculation Touched Off

It appeared also that Dulles may have explained the position United Nations negotiators will take when they meet again with Chinese and North Korean Communist representatives at 10 p.m., EDT, tonight.

The meeting was announced by the White House only 10 minutes before it began. There was no official comment as to its purpose.

Present were the ambassadors of Belgium, Canada, France, Great Britain, Greece, the Netherlands, Thailand, Turkey and South Africa. Five other nations sent lesser representatives.

The meeting touched off speculation that the U. S. is planning some new action in Korea which requires the approval of all the countries participating in the effort.

Sabre Jet Pilots Down Six MIGs

SEOUL, Saturday, June 20 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jet pilots bagged six MIGs and damaged three more yesterday and other Allied planes showered blinding flares over the Eastern Korean front last night in one of the brightest pyrotechnic displays of the war.

The million-candlepower flares, dropped at short intervals, may have discouraged any Communist attempts at heavy ground attacks. Up to midnight there were no front-line reports of heavy fighting.

Czech Purge Predicted

Rosenbergs' Death Sets Off Demonstrations In Europe

LONDON, June 20 (Saturday) (INS) — Mournful crowds, lamenting the death of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, demonstrated early today in London and other European capitals.

The demonstrators, who were kept in check by heavy police reinforcements, were generally orderly Some rioting, however, occurred in Paris and Rome.

The crowds turned into funeral processions after receiving news that the Rosenbergs had been executed for passing atomic secrets to Russia. They observed two minutes of silence.

Nearly 400 persons were arrested in Paris for rioting. Police broke up several minor fights along the boulevards. Crowds which attempted to gather at Place De La Concorde, before the U. S. Embassy, were turned back.

In Rome, ten persons were arrested. Police turned a fire hose on a rowdy group of demonstrators outside the American consulate. No incidents were reported in Milan.

Moscow newspapers recorded the event without comment. The newspapers carried reports of the Supreme Court's rejection of the stay of execution and President Eisenhower's refusal to grant clemency.

Execution Sets Three Precedents

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS) — The execution of the Rosenbergs tonight set three precedents.

It was the first time the U. S. has executed traitors in peacetime.

It was the first time a husband and wife have died in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair.

It was the first time anyone paid the supreme penalty in New York for a crime in which the actual taking of a human life was not involved.

Fireworks Blast Damages Homes And Injures 20

FT. WORTH, Tex., June 19 (AP)—A tremendous noon-hour explosion levelled a Ft. Worth fireworks etorage plant on the northwest outskirts of the city injuring about 20 persons.

No one was killed.

The blast damaged about 100 houses in the residential area and sent grass fires speeding through the dry countryside, near the vast Carswell Air Force Base.

Ten persons were in the fireworks plant, but only one of them was hurt.

Most of the injured were residents who lived nearby, some in the swanky Beverly Hills addition. One modern $40,000 home about two blocks away was burned to the ground.

Firemen from eight departments, more than 100 city policemen, and dozens of ambulances raced to the scene after four major blasts splintered the Wilfong Fireworks Company's masonry building.

Seven Convicted In Hawaiian Red Conspiracy Case

HONOLULU, June 19 (AP)—A racially-mixed Federal Court jury today convicted all seven defendants in the Hawaii Communist conspiracy case.

The defendants—six men and one woman—were charged with violating the Smith Act by conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Rites Monday For Top Allied World War I Ace

PARIS, June 19 (AP)—Final military honors will be given Col. Rene Fonck, the leading French air ace of World War I, at a funeral mass Monday at the Invalides, famed as Napoleon's tomb. He will be buried Tuesday in his old home town, Saulcy-sur-Meurthe, in Eastern France.

Officially credited with shooting down 75 German planes, he rated as the Allied counterpart of the Kaiser's Capt. Manfred von Richthofen, who had a record of 80 victories when he was killed behind British lines on the Somme front in 1918.

Eisenhower Wins Confidence Vote As House Passes Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Strong Democratic support gave President Eisenhower a vote of confidence today when the House approved without change a $4,998,732,508 foreign aid program for the coming year.

The roll call vote on final passage was 280 to 108.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

Democratic votes enabled GOP leaders to beat down more than a dozen attempts to cut the bill up to a half billion dollars. Almost all of these amendments were offered by Republicans, and half of the Republicans present supported proposed major reductions.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), leading the administration fight, had called the bill a test of congressional confidence in the President's foreign policy.

House Sustains Cuts

The House sustained cuts of 476 million dollars made by the foreign affairs committee in the President's "minimum" budget for the year beginning July 1.

Two efforts were made to cut the whole program by half a billion dollars. Other amendments proposed eliminating military aid to Yugoslavia, Spain, Portugal and Japan.

The House sustained an administration-opposed committee amendment withholding more than one billion dollars of aid for Europe until the European Defense Community and its international army are set up.

The measure only sets a ceiling. Today's stormy all-day session indicated the administration will have trouble avoiding deep slashes when the actual appropriations are voted on later.

The bill carries $3,481,000,000 in military aid for America's allies around the world, plus economic assistance.

Asian Cuts Rejected

After defeating three attempts to trim military aid planned for Spain, Portugal and Yugoslavia, the House, by voice vote, beat down a proposal to slice 115 million dollars off funds earmarked for Asia and the Pacific.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) said he wanted the Asian cuts to come from an undisclosed amount of money earmarked for rearming Japan.

Europe—$2,079,000,000

Near East and Africa—$305,000,000.

Asia and the Pacific—$1,081,000,000.

Latin America—$15,000,000

Ike Will Ask Reed To End Tax Blockade

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — President Eisenhower today arranged to make a personal, direct appeal to Rep. Reed (R-NY) to drop his blockade against House consideration of an extension of the excess profits tax.

Reed, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, so far has balked at calling a meeting of his group to vote on the President's request for a six months continuation of the tax, now due to expire July 1.

House GOP leaders say they have the votes to get a continuation bill out of the committee and on the House floor if only Reed will call a committee meeting.

The White House announced that Reed would meet with Eisenhower at the White House tomorrow.

He's Finding Out Where Taxes Go

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—"I can do anything I want, I'm a citizen and a taxpayer," defiantly shouted Odell Anderson.

He waved water tax bill receipts to prove it to two cops. "I thought I'd bring him in to let him see where his taxes go," Patrolman Harry Magaha told Magistrate Marshall Levin.

High U.S. Official, Rhee To Discuss Armistice Crisis

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—A High State Department official is flying to Korea Sunday at the invitation of South Korean President Syngman Rhee to discuss the truce crisis.

High sources disclosed tonight that Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, will undertake the trip as part of a determined U. S. effort to drive through to an armistice.

Dulles, Envoys Confer

These same sources said Secretary of State Dulles told both the United Nations ambassadors and congressional leaders in separate meetings today that all efforts are geared to attaining an acceptable truce despite all obstacles.

One of the chief difficulties may be Rhee's sudden decision, on his own, to release 25,000 anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Dulles called a special meeting of ambassadors from all the countries having troops in Korea but South Korea's representative did not attend.

The emergency session, first announced by the White House, presumably was called for a discussion of the POW releases.

Speculation Touched Off

It appeared also that Dulles may have explained the position United Nations negotiators will take when they meet again with Chinese and North Korean Communist representatives at 10 p.m., EDT, tonight.

The meeting was announced by the White House only 10 minutes before it began. There was no official comment as to its purpose.

Present were the ambassadors of Belgium, Canada, France, Great Britain, Greece, the Netherlands, Thailand, Turkey and South Africa. Five other nations sent lesser representatives.

The meeting touched off speculation that the U. S. is planning some new action in Korea which requires the approval of all the countries participating in the effort.

Execution Sets Three Precedents

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—The execution of the Rosenbergs tonight set three precedents.

It was the first time the U. S. has executed traitors in peacetime.

It was the first time a husband and wife have died in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair.

It was the first time anyone paid the supreme penalty in New York for a crime in which the actual taking of a human life was not involved.

Fireworks Blast Damages Homes And Injures 20

FT. WORTH, Tex., June 19 (AP)—A tremendous noon-hour explosion levelled a Ft. Worth fireworks etorage plant on the northwest outskirts of the city injuring about 20 persons.

No one was killed.

The blast damaged about 100 houses in the residential area and sent grass fires speeding through the dry countryside, near the vast Carswell Air Force Base.

Ten persons were in the fireworks plant, but only one of them was hurt.

Most of the injured were residents who lived nearby, some in the swanky Beverly Hills addition. One modern $40,000 home about two blocks away was burned to the ground.

Firemen from eight departments, more than 100 city policemen, and dozens of ambulances raced to the scene after four major blasts splintered the Wilfong Fireworks Company's masonry building.

Seven Convicted In Hawaiian Red Conspiracy Case

HONOLULU, June 19 (AP)—A racially-mixed Federal Court jury today convicted all seven defendants in the Hawaii Communist conspiracy case.

The defendants—six men and one woman—were charged with violating the Smith Act by conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Rites Monday For Top Allied World War I Ace

PARIS, June 19 (AP)—Final military honors will be given Col. Rene Fonck, the leading French air ace of World War I, at a funeral mass Monday at the Invalides, famed as Napoleon's tomb. He will be buried Tuesday in his old home town, Saulcy-sur-Meurthe, in Eastern France.

Officially credited with shooting down 75 German planes, he rated as the Allied counterpart of the Kaiser's Capt. Manfred von Richthofen, who had a record of 80 victories when he was killed behind British lines on the Somme front in 1918.

Eisenhower Wins Confidence Vote As House Passes Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Strong Democratic support gave President Eisenhower a vote of confidence today when the House approved without change a $4,998,732,508 foreign aid program for the coming year.

The roll call vote on final passage was 280 to 108.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

Democratic votes enabled GOP leaders to beat down more than a dozen attempts to cut the bill up to a half billion dollars. Almost all of these amendments were offered by Republicans, and half of the Republicans present supported proposed major reductions.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), leading the administration fight, had called the bill a test of congressional confidence in the President's foreign policy.

House Sustains Cuts

The House sustained cuts of 476 million dollars made by the foreign affairs committee in the President's "minimum" budget for the year beginning July 1.

Two efforts were made to cut the whole program by half a billion dollars. Other amendments proposed eliminating military aid to Yugoslavia, Spain, Portugal and Japan.

The House sustained an administration-opposed committee amendment withholding more than one billion dollars of aid for Europe until the European Defense Community and its international army are set up.

The measure only sets a ceiling. Today's stormy all-day session indicated the administration will have trouble avoiding deep slashes when the actual appropriations are voted on later.

The bill carries $3,481,000,000 in military aid for America's allies around the world, plus economic assistance.

Asian Cuts Rejected

After defeating three attempts to trim military aid planned for Spain, Portugal and Yugoslavia, the House, by voice vote, beat down a proposal to slice 115 million dollars off funds earmarked for Asia and the Pacific.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) said he wanted the Asian cuts to come from an undisclosed amount of money earmarked for rearming Japan.

Tentative approval was given to the following aid programs for the fiscal year beginning July 1:

Europe—$2,079,000,000

Near East and Africa—$305,000,000.

Asia and the Pacific—$1,081,000,000.

Latin America—$15,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—President Eisenhower met with Senate and House labor experts today in an attempt to agree on changes in the Taft-Hartley law but action at this session remained doubtful.

Theater Liquor OK'd

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—First-nighters can get at high as the curtain this season on Broadway.

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri signed into law today a bill permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages in legitimate theaters.

Ike Will Ask Reed To End Tax Blockade

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower today arranged to make a personal, direct appeal to Rep. Reed (R-NY) to drop his blockade against House consideration of an extension of the excess profits tax.

Reed, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, so far has balked at calling a meeting of his group to vote on the President's request for a six months continuation of the tax, now due to expire July 1.

House GOP leaders say they have the votes to get a continuation bill out of the committee and on the House floor if only Reed will call a committee meeting.

The White House announced that Reed would meet with Eisenhower at the White House tomorrow.

He's Finding Out Where Taxes Go

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—"I can do anything I want, I'm a citizen and a taxpayer," defiantly shouted Odell Anderson.

He waved water tax bill receipts to prove it to two cops.

"I thought I'd bring him in to let him see where his taxes go," Patrolman Harry Magaha told Magistrate Marshall Levin.

First Civilians In American History To Pay Supreme Penalty For Espionage

The first to die was Julius Rosenberg, who was pronounced dead at 7:06 p. m. (EST).

Ethel Rosenberg followed her husband and was pronounced dead at 7:16 p. m.

Neither husband nor wife said anything before they died.

They were the first civilians in American history to be executed for espionage. They were convicted of betraying American atomic secrets to Russia.

Julius died after three jolts. He was placed in the chair at 7:04 p. m. and was pronounced dead two and three-quarter minutes later.

Wife Requires Five Jolts

His wife, however, required five jolts, and the time was 4½ minutes.

The pair, who maintained an unemotional front throughout the day, went to their deaths a day after their 14th wedding anniversary and a few minutes before the start of the Hebrew Sabbath.

As Mrs. Rosenberg entered the death chamber, she was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Evans, prison matron, and Mrs. Lucy Many, a telephone operator.

Mrs. Rosenberg turned just before she was placed in the electric chair, drew Mrs. Evans toward her and they kissed.

The Rosenbergs displayed no emotion whatever.

Rabbi Intones 23rd Psalm

He was intoning the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

"Though I walk in the shadow of death, I shall fear no evil."

The rabbi was in his rabbinical robe.

Rosenberg was not supported by the guards.

His step was steady.

The leather mask covering his face, the helmet over his head and the electrodes to his right leg, were then attached.

The first shock lasted three seconds. The two following lasted 57 seconds each.

Doctors Step Forward

Two doctors, Dr. H. W. Kipp and Dr. George McCracken, stepped forward.

They tore the undershirt covering Rosenberg's chest. The two physicians applied stethoscopes and Dr. Kipp said:

"I pronounce this man dead."

In death, Rosenberg's face had the same staring, wondering expression that he had worn when he walked into the chamber.

Again the room was silent.

There were 10 witnesses, counting the three newspapermen, present.

A guard opened the door leading to the Death House an inch or two. He looked out.

A moment later the low voice of Rabbi Koslowe again could be heard.

He walked slowly ahead of Mrs. Rosenberg. He was intoning the 15th and 31st Psalms.

He held his prayer book as he walked.

His low, melodious voice was singing:

"Who shalt sojourn in Thy tabernacle."

The matron and the telephone operator were behind Mrs. Rosenberg.

Mrs. Rosenberg, Matron Kiss

She took one step.

Then she turned suddenly to Mrs.

2,000 Berliners Raid Red Office In U. S. Sector

BERLIN, June 20 (AP)—A crowd of 2,000 Germans, aroused by events in East Germany, raided a Communist (Socialist Unity) party office in the U. S. sector late today and forced several Red officials to flee through a back door.

Furniture, propaganda publications and pictures of Stalin and Communist East German leaders were thrown in the street and burned. West Berlin police reported they made no arrests.

The outburst developed as a wave of arrests by the Communist people's police spurred rebellious East Germans back to work.

Tension increased tonight when Communist police shot a West Berlin businessman as he unwittingly stepped into Soviet territory near Potsdamer Platz.

Kindel had been walking along Stresemannstrasse where the buildings are American but the sidewalk is under Russian control.

Meanwhile, an explosion and fire broke out tonight in a war ruin on the Soviet side of Eberstrasse—used as a military outpost. Shots and screams were heard. The opposite side of Eberstrasse is British.

People's police arrested scores from among 680 East Berliners who tried to return to their homes from the West tonight at three border crossing points opened up for them by the Soviet command. Those seized were accused of rioting.

Some 1,300 other East Berliners stayed in the West.

Soviet martial law still gripped key cities in East Germany, but Communists said the general strike that developed Wednesday amid riotous demonstrations against Red rule is now dead.

The flaming character of the workers' uprising was indicated by scattered reports of turmoil and sabotage reaching the West. The full story may take weeks to come out.

Ridgway Urges 2-Year NATO Service Period

His words, at a news conference at the Foreign Ministry, caused a stir among Danes, who recalled that hundreds of Danish soldiers mutinied a few months ago in protest against extension of the service period from 12 months to 18. Political sources said there was "practically no chance" of persuading public opinion in this country of accepting a 24-month period.

A-Spy Asked Ike For Mercy Shortly Before Her Death

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—The futile battle to save the lives of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg came to its climax tonight literally in President Eisenhower's own hands minutes before the atomic spies perished in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison.

Less than half an hour before the Rosenbergs went to their deaths, Mr. Eisenhower read and rejected the plea for mercy written to him by Mrs. Rosenberg in her death cell June 16 and delivered at the White House by Defense Counsel Emanuel Bloch at 7 p. m.

Thus, with Bloch raging futilely in a series of telephone attempts to gain access to the White House, the Rosenberg tragedy came to an end—except for the macabre epilogue at Sing Sing.

Compressed into the day which brought the grim end of the nation's most celebrated spy case and doom to the Rosenbergs was almost unbearable tension and incredible drama.

The Supreme Court, convened in special session Thursday at the government's demand after Justice Douglas on Wednesday issued a surprise stay of execution, sounded the actual death knell in a 6-2 decision overruling Douglas.

Approximately 500 pickets paraded before the White House to protest the death of the Rosenbergs learned of the executions when a cheer went up from a throng in Lafayette Park across Pennsylvania Avenue.

Shortly afterward the picketers marched slowly down the street to board buses several blocks away.

Missing Plane Wreckage Found Near Tilghman

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 19 (AP)—A State House spokesman said the Governor's office was informed late today that searchers had found the wreckage of a plane believed to be one which crashed in Chesapeake Bay last Friday night with four persons aboard.

The spokesman said the report had been received from William E. Yost, father of George Yost, 22-year-old passenger on the missing craft.

Within moments of the State House announcement, the Civil Aeronautics Authority confirmed the report. The CAA Salisbury, Md., office said the wreckage had been found at 5:30 p. m. (eastern daylight saving) about five miles south of Tilghman's Island.

The CAA said the wreckage had not been identified, but only one plane—that which disappeared last Friday night—had been reported missing in the area.

The spot where the plane wreckage was found is in the same area where a body was discovered yesterday. The body had been tentatively identified as that of Sara Mitchell, 23-year-old secretary to Rep. Alexander (D-NC) and also a passenger aboard the missing plane.

The chief state medical examiner's office in Baltimore had been asked to make a dental check to confirm the identity.

Miss Mitchell and the other three left Washington Friday night aboard the plane en route to Salisbury. The craft was piloted by George Ackerman, Miss Mitchell's fiance and 23-year-old son of a Washington real estate man. The other passengers were Yost and Miss Romaine Sanders, 19, also of Washington.

Release Of POWs Called 'Blunder'

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—The release of anti-Communist prisoners "was a blunder on the part of our American forces" in Korea and it wouldn't have happened if Gen. Douglas MacArthur had been in charge, a Republican congressman said today.

"You have to understand the Oriental mind in order to deal" with the Korean situation, Rep. Van Zandt of Pennsylvania told the Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"I recognize General Douglas MacArthur as having a better understanding of the Oriental mind than any official we have ever had in that area. Had he been in the Orient at this time, he would have surveyed the possibilities of such action as (President Syngman) Rhee took and would have taken proper steps to deny those possibilities.

"Our American forces failed to recognize the possibility, and that is where they blundered."

MacArthur was removed as commanding general of the United Nations troops in Korea by former President Truman.

Broadcasters Oppose Program Record Bill

OCEAN CITY, Md., June 19 (AP)—The Maryland-District of Columbia Radio and Television Broadcasters Association expressed today its opposition to a bill by Sen. McCarthy which the association said would, in effect, require all radio and television stations to make and keep recordings of all broadcasts.

The association held that the bill (S2125) would "force many broadcasters to discontinue service, thereby curtailing dissemination of information and freedom of speech."

The broadcasters in the closing session of their annual spring meeting also adopted a resolution which declared "unshakeable opposition" to any practice which denies full access to public records.

Baltimore Will Hire Negroes As Firemen

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—Baltimore today discarded a century-old policy of not appointing Negroes to jobs as city firemen.

The Fire Board announced the move by making public a letter to William M. Passano, president of the Baltimore Urban League, which has been urging racial equality in hiring city firemen.

Gadgets To Take Over Payroll Job

ANNAPOLIS, June 19 (AP)—Some 9,000 state employes, including Gov. McKeldin, will miss a paycheck next month when a new mechanized bureau takes over the public payroll.

After that, checks will roll in regularly every other Wednesday as the Central Payroll Bureau gets the new system on track.

The bureau was created by the Board of Public Works to concentrate payroll tasks in one office. Special machines that write checks and post journals and an addressograph, all manned by 10 or 12 employes, will do the job. The gadgets will relieve 130 agencies of practically all chores except filling out a card for each employe, then verifying that he worked and confirming his deductions and allowances.

Health Dept. Moves To Enforce Milk Law

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—The State Department of Health today moved reluctantly to enforce a ban on sale of condensed or evaporated skimmed milk by retailers.

The ban on such milk, which has the cream removed, has been in effect since 1900. The Health Department tried to have it lifted by the 1953 legislature, but the bill died in the Senate after passing in the House.

The department then asked the Attorney General's office for advice on enforcing the old law.

"The fact that this law is undesirable in light of modern conditions does not change the fact that it would require an act of the General Assembly to abrogate its effect," replied A. T. Hartman, assistant attorney general.

Defense Label Given First State Highway

ANNAPOLIS, June 19 (AP)—The first stretch of Maryland's emergency highway system, a network of existing roads labeled for military and civil defense vehicles, was officially designated today near the old Severn River bridge.

Gov. McKeldin, aided by CD officials, ripped a veil of wrapping paper from the 6-by-8-foot sign proclaiming Ritchie Highway a part of the system.

About 30 per cent of state roads will be marked into the network by the end of the summer.

Nehru Deplores Release Of POWs

BURGENSTOCK, Switzerland, June 19 (AP)—A spokesman for India's Prime Minister Nehru said today South Korean President Syngman Rhee's liberation of anti-Communist prisoners was "deplorable and most objectionable."

Nehru is presiding over a conference here of 11 top-ranking Indian diplomats, including India's ambassadors in Washington, London and Moscow. The spokesman said today the conference today considered the liberation of the Korean prisoners.

"This news came as a shock to them," the spokesman said, "and the action (of President Syngman Rhee) was considered deplorable and most objectionable and a deliberate attempt to sabotage the armistice agreement that has almost been reached.

"It was felt that President Syngman Rhee's attempt at sabotage should not be allowed to come in the way of an agreement and that the United Nations Command on whom the responsibility lies should take effective action in the matter."

Painter Dies After Car Knocks Down Ladder

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 19 (AP)—A county roads department worker died this morning after a hit-and-run driver knocked a ladder from under him yesterday as he painted a bridge at Kemp's Mill, west of here.

Joseph H. Long, 64, of Clear Spring, died of a skull fracture

Follmer D. Palmer, 80, of Hagerstown was arrested by state police, but he denied he was the driver of the car that ran through a barracade on the bridge and knocked down the ladder. He will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

Wife Follows

The condemned woman pulled Mrs. Evans toward her and they kissed.

Mrs. Evans said a few words but her voice was too low to be intelligible.

Mrs. Rosenberg wore a shapeless green dress, with a small white pattern.

The neck was round and open and the sleeves were short.

She also wore slippers on her feet.

She sat down calmly in the chair and let her arms drop limply on the arms of the chair.

She winced slightly when the electrode helmet was attached to her head.

Her head was not shaved but only clipped.

The straps were then placed over her face and chest.

Rabbi Prays In Whispers

In the room the rabbi stood, praying in whispers.

From time to time he kissed his prayer book. He did not look at either the condemned man or woman when the electricity was thrown into their bodies.

Again, there was the seemingly long moment before the executioner threw the switch.

Like her husband, she received three jolts of three seconds, 57 seconds and 57 seconds.

When they were over and the current was cut, she slumped in the chair, apparently held upright only by the straps across her chest and head.

Current Applied Again

Again there was a whispered consultation between them as they moved the stethoscopes around to different parts of her chest.

Then they murmured to Warden Wilfred Denno.

The guards stepped forward and readjusted the straps.

She received two more jolts and then the doctors pronounced her dead.

Rosenberg went to his death first so that they would not see each other passing down the corridor in the last fateful walk.

The warden said that had she gone first, she would have had to pass his cell.

Mrs. Rosenberg probably did not know whether her husband had preceded her to the chair.

The executions were carried out at the unusual hour so that they would be completed before sundown, at 7:31 p.m., EST, when the Jewish Sabbath began.

The warden said the Rosenbergs were together throughout the afternoon.

They talked through a screen in the women's wing of the Death House from noon to 6:20 p.m., EST.

Then they were separated and prepared for the chair.

Nehru Deplores Release Of POWs

BURGENSTOCK, Switzerland, June 19 (AP)—A spokesman for India's Prime Minister Nehru said today South Korean President Syngman Rhee's liberation of anti-Communist prisoners was "deplorable and most objectionable."

Nehru is presiding over a conference here of 11 top-ranking Indian diplomats, including India's ambassadors in Washington, London and Moscow. The spokesman said today the conference today considered the liberation of the Korean prisoners.

"This news came as a shock to them," the spokesman said, "and the action (of President Syngman Rhee) was considered deplorable and most objectionable and a deliberate attempt to sabotage the armistice agreement that has almost been reached.

"It was felt that President Syngman Rhee's attempt at sabotage should not be allowed to come in the way of an agreement and that the United Nations Command on whom the responsibility lies should take effective action in the matter."

Painter Dies After Car Knocks Down Ladder

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 19 (AP)—A county roads department worker died this morning after a hit-and-run driver knocked a ladder from under him yesterday as he painted a bridge at Kemp's Mill, west of here.

Joseph H. Long, 64, of Clear Spring, died of a skull fracture

Follmer D. Palmer, 80, of Hagerstown was arrested by state police, but he denied he was the driver of the car that ran through a barracade on the bridge and knocked down the ladder. He will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

The condemned woman pulled Mrs. Evans toward her and they kissed.

Mrs. Evans said a few words but her voice was too low to be intelligible.

Mrs. Rosenberg wore a shapeless green dress, with a small white pattern.

The neck was round and open and the sleeves were short.

She also wore slippers on her feet.

She sat down calmly in the chair and let her arms drop limply on the arms of the chair.

She winced slightly when the electrode helmet was attached to her head.

Her head was not shaved but only clipped.

The straps were then placed over her face and chest.

Rabbi Prays In Whispers

In the room the rabbi stood, praying in whispers.

From time to time he kissed his prayer book. He did not look at either the condemned man or woman when the electricity was thrown into their bodies.

Again, there was the seemingly long moment before the executioner threw the switch.

Like her husband, she received three jolts of three seconds, 57 seconds and 57 seconds.

When they were over and the current was cut, she slumped in the chair, apparently held upright only by the straps across her chest and head.

Current Applied Again

Again there was a whispered consultation between them as they moved the stethoscopes around to different parts of her chest.

Then they murmured to Warden Wilfred Denno.

The guards stepped forward and readjusted the straps.

She received two more jolts and then the doctors pronounced her dead.

Rosenberg went to his death first so that they would not see each other passing down the corridor in the last fateful walk.

The warden said that had she gone first, she would have had to pass his cell.

Mrs. Rosenberg probably did not know whether her husband had preceded her to the chair.

The executions were carried out at the unusual hour so that they would be completed before sundown, at 7:31 p.m., EST, when the Jewish Sabbath began.

The warden said the Rosenbergs were together throughout the afternoon.

They talked through a screen in the women's wing of the Death House from noon to 6:20 p.m., EST.

Then they were separated and prepared for the chair.

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Filmz. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applicator, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but, when ants touch it, their legs become paralyzed and they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches! Roach Filmz is available at ROSENBAUM'S —

Hunger In Red China

Scattered and censored dispatches from the Chinese mainland indicate that more than 10,000,000 of the population may now be suffering from famine. Winter-spring famine is an almost yearly affliction in many parts of China, but proportions of the current disaster may be great enough to interfere with food supplies for Red Chinese troops in Korea.

Premier Chou En-lai, in a statement of May 16, reported that the main wheat provinces of Anhwei, Kiangsi, Honan, Shantung, and Shansi had been struck by late frosts, pests, and hailstones. Subsequent reports filtering through from these provinces, which form a broad vertical belt down Eastern China, indicate severe damage to wheat, beans and peas. And floods have hit Anhwei and Kwantung provinces, as well as Szechwan, Kweichon, and Yunnan in Southwest China.

President Truman in May 1950 announced the purpose of the United States to try to feed at least some of that year's starving Chinese, whose "new taskmasters have been heartlessly indifferent to the worst famine which has occurred in China in 100 years."

But that was before the Communist invasion of South Korea and Red China's subsequent intervention in the hostilities. On December 16, 1950, the U. S. State, Treasury, and Commerce departments jointly imposed a virtual economic embargo on Communist China. All U. S. ships and planes were barred from calling at mainland ports.

The bulk of the Chinese population lives close to the subsistence level at all times. The annual carry-over of stocks of food is small at best. Thus, when drought and flood interfere with food production, famine is almost inevitable. At the same time, China's great size and high mountains, remoteness of parts of the country from oceans and rain-bearing winds, and the exposure of other parts to torrential downpours render the land peculiarly vulnerable to crop failures.

Moreover, Chinese farms are small. A land-use study by University of Nanking disclosed that in the 1930's the average size of owner-farms was four acres; of tenant farms, three-and-a-half. Even these small farms are often fragmented, which limits their production mostly to vegetables.

Certain areas of China are highly fertile, inasmuch as the land, though under cultivation for thousands of years, has always been dressed with human excreta. The need for human food is too great to permit planting of "green manure" crops to be ploughed under for soil replenishment. Even such plant and animal matter as is not used for food is unavailable for enrichment of the soil. Straw is used for fuel, and even roots are pulled and burned.

When famine strikes in China, lack of modern transportation contributes to its severity. To transport relief food in the current emergency the Communists have commandeered all craft on the Yangtze River, all motor vehicles, pushcarts, and animal-drawn carts in the five afflicted provinces.

Summer!

Tomorrow, at precisely noon, Eastern Standard Time, summer will arrive on the American scene. For the next 90 days the sun will rule the land, theoretically at least. Bathing beaches and mountain resorts will play host to vacationing throngs. Stay-at-homes will battle garden weeds. Chances are the weather man will be right two days out of four when he predicts "fair and warm."

In honor of summer, the sun will work its longest hours of the year on June 21, notes the National Geographic Society. It will be above the horizon for 15 hours and 37 minutes at Minneapolis, for 14 hours and 31 minutes at Chattanooga, and for 14 hours and 5 minutes at New Orleans.

On this day—officially termed the summer solstice in the northern hemisphere—the sun is directly overhead at the Tropic of Cancer, an imaginary line encircling the earth 23½ degrees north of the equator. Solstice, derived from Latin, means when the "sun stands still."

On June 22 the sun will begin its apparent southward journey. Its seeming shift in the heavens is caused by the tilt of the earth's axis in its annual trip around the sun.

Six months later, on or about December 21, the sun will be directly above the Tropic of Capricorn, 23½ degrees south of the equator. The southern half of the world will then observe the summer solstice, while the northern hemisphere girds for winter.

Highest U. S. temperatures usually do not occur until a month or more after the summer solstice. Once the earth's air blanket gets warm enough, however, it takes less sunshine to sustain high readings—even after the sun is well on its way south. Hottest place in the nation is Greenland Ranch in California's Death Valley. Its midsummer mean temperature is a blistering 102 degrees.

But America's hottest is not so hot. When heat waves scorch the Middle West, sear the Imperial Valley and cook the East in humidity and heat, it is usually hotter somewhere else. Along the coast of the Persian Gulf in Iran, unofficial temperatures of 150 to 180 degrees have been taken in the sun. On Abadan Island, at the head of the gulf, the mercury in unprotected thermometers has been reported to climb to a dizzy 189 degrees.

Father's Day

Father's Day does not generate the sentiment of Mother's Day, it being a sort of dutiful after-thought. Our particular civilization, which differs from many others in the world today, has tended to place motherhood on a pedestal while making dad rather incidental in the family scheme of things.

As a measure of this trend, it need only be recalled that there was formerly stubborn opposition to any suggestion of giving woman the vote or opening the gates of business and professional careers to her. Now approximately 40 per cent of married women have jobs outside the home and there is agitation to make equal pay and advancement for them mandatory. Thus far has the matriarchal trend proceeded.

But there is a great deal to say for the old man. He is the basis of the income upon which the economic structure is founded. Without him the home functions precariously on a bread-and-butter basis, and the discipline and proper upbringing of children languishes if dad doesn't supply a guiding hand.

In the man's world which had endured through most of human history until recent generations, the male was solidly in the saddle with unquestioned authority. It is no loss, but a gain, that father and mother have been brought into more equal partnership. Working at the partnership job in these confusing times, the two will bring the family safely through.

How To Keep Well

Sore Back, Neck, or Shoulder

Lumbago, stiff neck, and other forms of muscular rheumatism usually are associated with physical strain, infection, or exposure to a draft. To these causes, nervousness has been added and in several recent reports many examples are cited of men and women who encounter this type of discomfort following periods of mental stress, restlessness, or insomnia.

Lumbago and pain and stiffness in the neck and between the shoulder blades often are called fibrositis because it is believed that the fibrous tissues surrounding the muscles are affected. The area is tender to the touch and appears to be stiff because movements of the head or back aggravate distress. Soreness may develop so gradually that a week passes before it reaches its maximum pitch. In others, the onset is sudden; the individual awakens in the morning unable to get out of bed without help because of excruciating pain.

In other instances, pain comes and goes and has no effect upon health. There is a dull ache which, like rheumatism, is worse after rest and better following activity. There is no question about the cause when lumbago follows injury or on awakening with a stiff neck after sleeping in a draft. A psychosomatic origin is suspected when aching takes place in periods of emotional stress and disappears with improvement in the life situation. In this regard it is of nervous origin but by no means imaginary. Apparently the nerves stimulate the muscle pain mechanism which in turn produces muscle spasm.

Until recently, such an explanation lacked proof. But by using a special electric machine in which needles are inserted directly nto the muscles (electromyograph), the phenomenon is easy to demonstrate. Doctors T. H. Holmes and H. G. Wolff, for example, did experiments along this line by inserting needles into various muscles and recording the response of the subjects to hostility or other emotional upheavals. During these intervals the machine showed the muscles to be in a state of tension. Shortly thereafter, when patients were reassured that nothing was wrong, there was evidence of tissue relaxation. Whoever coined the phrase, "The stress and strain of modern living are enough to tie us in knots," now has scientific proof to substantiate this contention.

In another study of 300 nervous persons, 20 per cent were found to complain of stiffness in the shoulder region, chest pain, or pain in the neck. Many also had headache, fatigue, restlessness, irritability, or difficulty in sleeping. X-rays of the shoulder showed negative results in all except five. With few exceptions pain and stiffness in the shoulder or adjacent areas occurred chiefly in periods of emotional stress.

SINGER'S NODES

Mrs. C. writes: Are nodes on the vocal cords always malignant?

REPLY

No. Growths that develop on the vocal cords of singers and public speakers are not cancerous as a rule.

ATTACKS OF SLEEP

B. H. writes: Does narcolepsy get worse as time goes by?

REPLY

Untreated cases of this disorder, in which there is an uncontrolable desire to sleep, probably remain the same thruout life.

BLOOD BROTHERS

W. B. writes: Should two brothers have the same blood type?

REPLY

Why not? It is easy to understand why brothers should have the same color eyes and hair or the same shaped nose and ears. These are external similarities and internally they may have the same type heart, stomach, nervous system, and blood group. On the other hand, many blood combinations are possible and in this regard there always is a chance that the type will be different.

COLORED SWEAT

E. P. writes: What is the cause of colored perspiration from the armpits?

REPLY

Discoloration of the skin in the armpits and of the clothes in this area may be the result of dyes in the garments worn, the taking of colored medication, or working in a factory where certain dyes or metals are handled. The presence of indican in the urine also has been blamed. In a recent study of a small group of individuals, it was shown that colored sweat was produced by the apocrine glands in the armpits in response to emotional upsets. The secretions ranged from a greenish shade to blood red, which might explain the expression, "sweating blood."

SHOCK THERAPY

S. B. writes: Are shock treatments for nervous breakdown as restful as many people say they are?

REPLY

They are restful only by comparison with the turmoil suffered by most persons who need shock therapy.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Tornadoes May Have Been Caused By Nevada A-Bomb Explosions; Senator Mundt's Oahe Dam Will Cover Priceless Indian Ruins

WASHINGTON — Scientists are loath to discuss it in public, but some of them privately suspect there's more connection than the Weather Bureau admits between the atomic tests in Nevada and the unprecedented wave of tornadoes that swept the nation.

To date, the few scientists who have made public statements have carefully reassured the nation there's "no connection" between the two events. But other scientists are far from satisfied and would like to see the whole subject thoroughly explored by a committee of experts.

"Admittedly, the forces that make up our weather are vastly greater than the power of those atom blasts. But the really important question is rather: 'Can an A-bomb explosion trigger an explosion in the atmosphere?'

"We all know," continues the physicist, "that a few handfuls of silver iodide, properly vaporized, can bring down thousands of tons of rainfall. The silver iodide simply 'triggers' the action. For years, scientists have performed experiments with the Wilson cloud chamber — that's a glass chamber containing clear, moist air. And when we inject a few charged particles into the chamber, such as electrons, the moist air rapidly condenses into drops of water. The key fact in this experiment is that the particles are charged particles.

"Following an atom blast the air becomes full of dust particles—not just ordinary dust, but radioactive, or charged dust. It's practically the same kind of charged 'dust' we use to trigger the reaction in the Wilson cloud chamber. When the conditions are right, a very small trigger of charged dust particles can produce a huge reaction, out of all proportions to the size of the trigger."

"Take the case of the Eastman Kodak Co., for example," explained the physicist. "They're located in Rochester, N. Y. — almost 3,000 miles away from the atom test grounds. Despite the distance, however, Eastman can detect radiation from an A-blast on their photographic film in Rochester. In fact, Eastman authorities are warned in advance of each explosion so they can safeguard their film from the radioactive dust shot into the air 3,000 miles away. Remember, this is charged dust, and if it can float to Rochester, it can also float to Worcester, Mass., or Flint, Mich., or Cleveland, Ohio, where they've just had tornadoes.

"I'm not saying flatly that there's a connection between the atom explosions and the tornadoes. But I certainly think there's enough evidence to make us want to examine the whole subject. Remember, a small trigger can set off a mighty big explosion. And those floating particles of radioactive dust may be just the trigger that old man weather needs to send him on a rampage."

Dam Vs. Indian Villages

Karl Mundt, the plump and pleasant senator from South Dakota, didn't count on any opposition when his wife charmed Postmaster General Summerfield into going to bat for Oahe Dam when she sat beside him at a Washington dinner party.

Thanks to Mrs. Mundt's persuasive charm, Summerfield used his own persuasion on the director of the Budget and got $8,250,000 for Oahe Dam restored to the budget—on condition the senator from South Dakota cut $8,250,000 from some other part of the budget. This Mundt promptly did by slicing $8,300,000 from the State Department's hard-pressed appropriation, after which he wrote his constituents: "Mary (Mrs. Mundt) is wondering whether she should register as a lobbyist or concentrate on starting to erect a statue to Art Summerfield at the Oahe site."

Despite the senator's enthusiasm, however, all is not plain sailing for Oahe Dam. In the first place, South Dakota farmers living along the Missouri who will be flooded out, are not happy. Second, John Foster Dulles' State Department is not happy — in fact, is boiling mad and determined to get its cut restored.

Finally, and most interesting of all, there's a growing tide of opposition from scientists and historians who point out that the waters of Oahe reservofr will flood some of the most priceless prehistoric Indian ruins on the North American continent.

Impatient Mundt

The bones of elephants, crocodiles, Indian pottery thousands of years old, a total of some 400 Indian cities and villages will be covered up by the waters of Oahe reservoir, never to be recovered, once the dam is built. And scientists suggest that pleasant, plump and popular Senator Mundt might wait just a year or two more to give them time to recover these priceless treasures.

"After all," they reason, "the senator's term doesn't expire until 1955, and he comes from a safely Republican state. Why not give us more time to recover these historic relics — and also perhaps let the State Department continue its difficult work of guiding our foreign affairs without cutting it to the bone."

The reason this particular part of South Dakota is so important to the history of this continent is that, when the ice ages pushed great glaciers down from the Arctic, they literally put the Indian civilization of that area in a deep freeze. Carefully preserved under layers of glacial deposit and silt from the Black Hills is the exact replica of Indian life going back thousands of years. Alongside it are more recent villages dating back to the white man's first discovery of the continent.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Looked at from the American side, the government of the Republic of Korea broke faith with the United Nations command and took a military action on its own when it released anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Looked at from the point of view of the Korean government, however, this was the right of any ally which had been threatened with the loss of its territorial integrity and particularly with coercion unless it signed an armistice that it bitterly opposed.

Looked at from the Korean government's point of view also, any armistice agreement which stipulated that 5,000 troops from India should be permitted in South Korea to police prison camps was a humiliation that could not be borne. To imply that the Korean government should accept the services of a country admittedly hostile was a serious blow to the pride of the republic. For India, though a member of the United Nations, has chosen to call itself "neutral," when everybody knows that Prime Minister Nehru, by his public statements favoring the immediate admission of Red China into the UN and refusal to ban shipments of strategic goods to Red China, has already prejudged the merits of the dispute.

Did Not Feel Bound

The South Korean government is not a member of the United Nations and, according to a statement by its president, has not been permitted to be a direct party to the truce negotiations. Failing to secure truce terms that would assure the unification of Korea and failing particularly to obtain an acceptance of the demand that all troops except Koreans of the North and South be withdrawn, President Rhee felt that he had a free hand. He did not feel bound as a sovereign government to an alliance which he felt had deserted him.

The American government, on the other hand, in the statement issued by the secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, after a conference with President Eisenhower, denounces the release of the prisoners by the Korean government as an "unilateral action" and as having been taken "in violation of the authority of the United Nations command to which the Republic of Korea has agreed."

There is no question about the fact that, when allies agree to any course of action, they are obligated to notify each other of the termination of such an alliance. While President Rhee has announced that he would not accept the armistice terms, and unquestionably has a legal right to separate his army from the United Nations command with or without notification, there is nevertheless a moral obligation to maintain a relationship of complete frankness with the United States Government.

All sorts of reasons justifying the course that the Korean president took can, of course, be made, including the provocative steps of the last several days when, despite his announced intention to maintain a resistance to the truce, the impression was conveyed that he would be forced to accept the truce terms anyway and that economic aid and other assistance would be withdrawn immediately by the UN if he didn't. This probably seems to Syngman Rhee an arbitrary step that was being taken without a full discussion of the issues on their merits.

Believe Truce Coming Soon

It is a regrettable dispute, because the Korean government needs the good will of the United States government and because also, if the Communists are not sincere about making the truce, then the main job of fighting falls back on the shoulders of the troops of Syngman Rhee.

Incidentally, if, despite what has happened, the Communists sign the truce, it will be a clear indication that they want it badly, but, if they construe this episode to be a basis for a breakup of all negotiations, it could mean that they didn't really want the truce after all.

Opinion here still inclines to the belief that some sort of truce will be signed soon by the UN command and that the Korean government, while never agreeing to the truce terms, will agree nevertheless not to engage in hostilities during the period of the political conference.

Nobody Burned Books

One of the advantages of not writing about every story immediately is that one can wait for the froth to blow away and for the substance to assert itself. The chance remark by President Eisenhower at Dartmouth College caused more excitement than was due it.

No one has burned any books and if the President indicated that someone had, he was unfortunately in error, although I must say that it would cause little damage to civilization if the pornographic miseries that are being sold to our children on newsstands and in candy stores were burned. Also some of the mystery stories which substitute filthy expressions for skillful narrative could well be burned with little loss to anyone.

But the issue at hand has nothing to do with such crudities. It apparently deals with the millions of dollars that the American taxpayer spends on American libraries scattered over the world as part of our program of psychological warfare. These libraries are sheer propaganda. That is the sole reason for which Congress appropriated money for them. The design was that Europeans and Asiatics should be given an opportunity to read the best that the United States produces in the various fields of literature.

Richard Humphrey, acting director of the Information Service Centers of the Department of State, addressed the following letter to Senator Joseph McCarthy which I quote in full:

"In response to Mr. Schine's request of today to state in a simple sentence the purpose of the Overseas Library Program, perhaps the following will suit the committees needs — the Overseas Library Program exists to reflect American objectives, values, the nature of American institutions and life and to utilize the books and related material to advance the ideas of America in the struggle against communism."

This is a succinct statement of fact. It clearly defines the overseas libraries as agencies of propaganda. That is what they should be. But how is it possible to fight communism and the Russians by spending millions of American dollars to set forth the Russian point of view in opposition to the United States and the American point of view?

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles put it clearly when he said:

"My own feeling is that books which are of an essentially propaganda nature, designed to sell communism and be persuasive in support of communism, should not be books on which we should expend the rather meager funds which are designed for quite a contrary purpose."

It is true that the McCarthy committee uncovered the use that the Communists were making of the American overseas libraries, but neither Senator McCarthy nor his committee could remove one book or even a pamphlet from the shelves of these libraries. They had no authority in the matter. The order to remove came from President's State Department as the order to purchase the Communist books came from Dean Acheson's State Department.

If these libraries are to show the best in American life, must they include works of men who denounce their own country and its government in favor of another country? For instance, how many Americans would be willing to say that Howard Fast represents the best in American life? Is it necessary for the United States to propagandize Howard Fast?

Somebody invents a slogan, such as witch-hunting, and immediately it becomes a propagandistic cover-all, to be used where it does not fit. For instance, why is it not right in a period of a cold war in Europe and a hot war in Asia for this country to inquire whether the enemy is employing a fifth column in the United States? It is known that this enemy has been employing native fifth columns in all other countries. Why not in the United States? Why should we be the exception?

Actually, we do know that Russia has not only used Americans for anti-American propaganda in the United States but has also used Americans as spies—and that is how they got the atom bomb.

Therefore, eternal, everlasting vigilance requires a constant scrutiny of the enemy's conduct within the United States. What we need to get excited about is how the enemy diabolically got into the affairs of the State Department so that he could put the books he favors and that favor him on the shelves of American propaganda libraries overseas.

Here And Now

The Big Idea

FATHER'S DAY

Everybody has a big idea— big to one if not to others. Bill Nye in his humorous "History of the United States" hails the man who "first conceived the idea of putting New Orleans molasses into Boston brown bread."

Children are personified interrogation points, asking in a minute more questions than their mothers can answer in an hour.

One day the inquisitive mind begins to explore. What about the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow? What about Santa Claus? What makes the watch tick, or the engine run?

At the turn of adolescence, body and mind enter a period of rapid development. The mind is fecund with ideas never before seen or heard on land or sea. It's the age of daydreaming, the reading of many books, hero worshiping, falling in love with pictures of movie stars and other celebrities.

All these ravishing experiences of youth are inchoate ideas struggling to break through their shell into a new world of realism.

Parents wonder what their children will be when they grow up Palm reading and crystal gazing are not so predicative as ones dreams and dominant ideas. If one "lisps in numbers," as did Pope when he was a child, he is apt to become a poet. If the girl loves to dress dolls and play house, she may be headed toward housewifery. If the lad likes to play church and take up the collection, put him down for a budding preacher. If one is born to his calling he has a running start.

A certain poor farm boy wanted a nigher education. He wrote the college for a catalog, and found that if he could win all the prizes offered he would have enough money to pay his tuition and all expenses for the four-year course. He put a "V" on his desk, meaning Valedictorian, and went after his goal in a big way. He won all the prizes but one, and graduated with highest honors. He hung out his shingle and immediatelyy attracted a large law practice, from which he leaped at a single bound onto the floor of the United States Senate. There, after a firsthand study of the Philippine Islands issue then current, he electrified the nation with his maiden speech, at the age of 28.

Our cockeyed world has recently witnessed a bonanza of royalty in full bloom, accented by an exchange of compliments between a loyal subject and his sovereign — Edmund Hillary, with undiscourageable effort, negotiating the highest peak of Mt. Everest and planting there the Union Jack as a coronation gift to the queen of the British empire, and Queen Elizabeth's gracious response in dubbing him a knight.

A prince can make a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, an' a'that:
But an honest man's aboon his might.

In that sector where manhood is made there is no monopoly. On Father's Day, we fathers accept the challenge of noblesse oblige, and we sons and daughters knight our fathers, not by giving them a wrist watch or a necktie, which would be very nice, but by the renewal of our pledge to high thinking and noble living, which is far better.

Hats off! to a good man sent to Congress. My preacher friend campaigned for him, and in appreciation of his good work the congressman-elect called to ask if there was anything we wanted from Washington. If so, he would get it, if possible. My friend replied:: Not a thing! All I ask is that you make good." At the end of the first session he came back to his district to "be told." Reporting to his benefactor he said proudly "I have made good!" And that was in Washington—a high pressure area!

Such ideas as internationalism, world brotherhood, and the oneness of the human race, are of slow gestation. Now that these ideas seem to be in the throes of parturition, we pray that they will not be stillborn.

The graduates of an eastern university were gathered at commencement for a farewell party in the banquet room of the Waldorf-Astoria. They were all sons of financial and industrial tycoons, and would be expected to step at once on graduation into positions of prominence. They had invited a distinguished speaker to address them.

After all had partaken of the sumptuous feast and after the exchange of bonmots and pleasantries, the guest speaker was introduced. He said he would not weary them with a magnum opus, but would ask a few simple questions, make a comment or two, and sit down.

Lifting a repousse-handled dinner knife, he asked, "Can anyone here have made this?" There was no reply. Pointing to the crystal embellished chandeliers, he asked if anyone present could make their duplicates? "Could anyone of you have woven these gorgeous Oriental rugs or laid the parquetry floor. The silence was becoming oppressive. He pointed to the beautiful murals, the friezes, the table linens, in succession, with a negative response in each instance. As the silence grew tense he said: "Gentlemen, I do not want to embarrass you. I didn't expect affirmative answers to my questions.

"And now may I present to you the Unseen Guest who has been with us all evening. As he stands before us, in imagination, I ask the Carpenter of Galilee: "Friend Jesus, is there anything here of Thy craft? Is there anything you could have made?" Advancing, He lifts the corner of the tablecloth, lays His hand gently on the mahogany table, and says, "Yes, I could have made this table."

"Now," said the speaker, in conclusion, "when you go out into life to become masters of men, as many of you will, remember that you are dealing with men who have the "know-how" and are also brothers of our Lord."

And that is the big idea!

Hunger In Red China

Scattered and censored dispatches from the Chinese mainland indicate that more than 10,000,000 of the population may now be suffering from famine. Winter-spring famine is an almost yearly affliction in many parts of China, but proportions of the current disaster may be great enough to interfere with food supplies for Red Chinese troops in Korea.

Premier Chou En-lai, in a statement of May 16, reported that the main wheat provinces of Anhwei, Kiangsi, Honan, Shantung, and Shansi had been struck by late frosts, pests, and hailstones. Subsequent reports filtering through from these provinces, which form a broad vertical belt down Eastern China, indicate severe damage to wheat, beans and peas. And floods have hit Anhwei and Kwantung provinces, as well as Szechwan, Kweichon, and Yunnan in Southwest China.

President Truman in May 1950 announced the purpose of the United States to try to feed at least some of that year's starving Chinese, whose "new taskmasters have been heartlessly indifferent to the worst famine which has occurred in China in 100 years."

But that was before the Communist invasion of South Korea and Red China's subsequent intervention in the hostilities. On December 16, 1950, the U. S. State, Treasury, and Commerce departments jointly imposed a virtual economic embargo on Communist China. All U. S. ships and planes were barred from calling at mainland ports.

The bulk of the Chinese population lives close to the subsistence level at all times. The annual carry-over of stocks of food is small at best. Thus, when drought and flood interfere with food production, famine is almost inevitable. At the same time, China's great size and high mountains, remoteness of parts of the country from oceans and rain-bearing winds, and the exposure of other parts to torrential downpours render the land peculiarly vulnerable to crop failures.

Moreover, Chinese farms are small. A land-use study by University of Nanking disclosed that in the 1930's the average size of owner-farms was four acres; of tenant farms, three-and-a-half. Even these small farms are often fragmented, which limits their production mostly to vegetables.

Certain areas of China are highly fertile, inasmuch as the land, though under cultivation for thousands of years, has always been dressed with human excreta. The need for human food is too great to permit planting of "green manure" crops to be ploughed under for soil replenishment. Even such plant and animal matter as is not used for food is unavailable for enrichment of the soil. Straw is used for fuel, and even roots are pulled and burned.

When famine strikes in China, lack of modern transportation contributes to its severity. To transport relief food in the current emergency the Communists have commandeered all craft on the Yangtze River, all motor vehicles, pushcarts, and animal-drawn carts in the five afflicted provinces.

Summer!

Tomorrow, at precisely noon, Eastern Standard Time, summer will arrive on the American scene. For the next 90 days the sun will rule the land, theoretically at least. Bathing beaches and mountain resorts will play host to vacationing throngs. Stay-at-homes will battle garden weeds. Chances are the weather man will be right two days out of four when he predicts "fair and warm."

In honor of summer, the sun will work its longest hours of the year on June 21, notes the National Geographic Society. It will be above the horizon for 15 hours and 37 minutes at Minneapolis, for 14 hours and 31 minutes at Chattanooga, and for 14 hours and 5 minutes at New Orleans.

On this day—officially termed the summer solstice in the northern hemisphere—the sun is directly overhead at the Tropic of Cancer, an imaginary line encircling the earth 23½ degrees north of the equator. Solstice, derived from Latin, means when the "sun stands still."

On June 22 the sun will begin its apparent southward journey. Its seeming shift in the heavens is caused by the tilt of the earth's axis in its annual trip around the sun.

Six months later, on or about December 21, the sun will be directly above the Tropic of Capricorn, 23½ degrees south of the equator. The southern half of the world will then observe the summer solstice, while the northern hemisphere girds for winter.

Highest U. S. temperatures usually do not occur until a month or more after the summer solstice. Once the earth's air blanket gets warm enough, however, it takes less sunshine to sustain high readings—even after the sun is well on its way south. Hottest place in the nation is Greenland Ranch in California's Death Valley. Its midsummer mean temperature is a blistering 102 degrees.

But America's hottest is not so hot. When heat waves scorch the Middle West, sear the Imperial Valley and cook the East in humidity and heat, it is usually hotter somewhere else. Along the coast of the Persian Gulf in Iran, unofficial temperatures of 150 to 180 degrees have been taken in the sun. On Abadan Island, at the head of the gulf, the mercury in unprotected thermometers has been reported to climb to a dizzy 189 degrees.

Father's Day

Father's Day does not generate the sentiment of Mother's Day, it being a sort of dutiful after-thought. Our particular civilization, which differs from many others in the world today, has tended to place motherhood on a pedestal while making dad rather incidental in the family scheme of things.

As a measure of this trend, it need only be recalled that there was formerly stubborn opposition to any suggestion of giving woman the vote or opening the gates of business and professional careers to her. Now approximately 40 per cent of married women have jobs outside the home and there is agitation to make equal pay and advancement for them mandatory. Thus far has the matriarchal trend proceeded.

But there is a great deal to say for the old man. He is the basis of the income upon which the economic structure is founded. Without him the home functions precariously on a bread-and-butter basis, and the discipline and proper upbringing of children languishes if dad doesn't supply a guiding hand.

In the man's world which had endured through most of human history until recent generations, the male was solidly in the saddle with unquestioned authority. It is no loss, but a gain, that father and mother have been brought into more equal partnership. Working at the partnership job in these confusing times, the two will bring the family safely through.

How To Keep Well

Sore Back, Neck, or Shoulder

Lumbago, stiff neck, and other forms of muscular rheumatism usually are associated with physical strain, infection, or exposure to a draft. To these causes, nervousness has been added and in several recent reports many examples are cited of men and women who encounter this type of discomfort following periods of mental stress, restlessness, or insomnia.

Lumbago and pain and stiffness in the neck and between the shoulder blades often are called fibrositis because it is believed that the fibrous tissues surrounding the muscles are affected. The area is tender to the touch and appears to be stiff because movements of the head or back aggravate distress. Soreness may develop so gradually that a week passes before it reaches its maximum pitch. In others, the onset is sudden; the individual awakens in the morning unable to get out of bed without help because of excruciating pain.

In other instances, pain comes and goes and has no effect upon health. There is a dull ache which, like rheumatism, is worse after rest and better following activity. There is no question about the cause when lumbago follows injury or on awakening with a stiff neck after sleeping in a draft. A psychosomatic origin is suspected when aching takes place in periods of emotional stress and disappears with improvement in the life situation. In this regard it is of nervous origin but by no means imaginary. Apparently the nerves stimulate the muscle pain mechanism which in turn produces muscle spasm.

Until recently, such an explanation lacked proof. But by using a special electric machine in which needles are inserted directly nto the muscles (electromyograph), the phenomenon is easy to demonstrate. Doctors T. H. Holmes and H. G. Wolff, for example, did experiments along this line by inserting needles into various muscles and recording the response of the subjects to hostility or other emotional upheavals. During these intervals the machine showed the muscles to be in a state of tension. Shortly thereafter, when patients were reassured that nothing was wrong, there was evidence of tissue relaxation. Whoever coined the phrase, "The stress and strain of modern living are enough to tie us in knots," now has scientific proof to substantiate this contention.

In another study of 300 nervous persons, 20 per cent were found to complain of stiffness in the shoulder region, chest pain, or pain in the neck. Many also had headache, fatigue, restlessness, irritability, or difficulty in sleeping. X-rays of the shoulder showed negative results in all except five. With few exceptions pain and stiffness in the shoulder or adjacent areas occurred chiefly in periods of emotional stress.

SINGER'S NODES

Mrs. C. writes: Are nodes on the vocal cords always malignant?

REPLY

No. Growths that develop on the vocal cords of singers and public speakers are not cancerous as a rule.

ATTACKS OF SLEEP

B. H. writes: Does narcolepsy get worse as time goes by?

REPLY

Untreated cases of this disorder, in which there is an uncontrolable desire to sleep, probably remain the same thruout life.

BLOOD BROTHERS

W. B. writes: Should two brothers have the same blood type?

REPLY

Why not? It is easy to understand why brothers should have the same color eyes and hair or the same shaped nose and ears. These are external similarities and internally they may have the same type heart, stomach, nervous system, and blood group. On the other hand, many blood combinations are possible and in this regard there always is a chance that the type will be different.

COLORED SWEAT

E. P. writes: What is the cause of colored perspiration from the armpits?

REPLY

Discoloration of the skin in the armpits and of the clothes in this area may be the result of dyes in the garments worn, the taking of colored medication, or working in a factory where certain dyes or metals are handled. The presence of indican in the urine also has been blamed. In a recent study of a small group of individuals, it was shown that colored sweat was produced by the apocrine glands in the armpits in response to emotional upsets. The secretions ranged from a greenish shade to blood red, which might explain the expression, "sweating blood."

SHOCK THERAPY

S. B. writes: Are shock treatments for nervous breakdown as restful as many people say they are?

REPLY

The Fermenting Grapes Of Wrath

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Tornadoes May Have Been Caused By Nevada A-Bomb Explosions; Senator Mundt's Oahe Dam Will Cover Priceless Indian Ruins

WASHINGTON — Scientists are loath to discuss it in public, but some of them privately suspect there's more connection than the Weather Bureau admits between the atomic tests in Nevada and the unprecedented wave of tornadoes that swept the nation.

To date, the few scientists who have made public statements have carefully reassured the nation there's "no connection" between the two events. But other scientists are far from satisfied and would like to see the whole subject thoroughly explored by a committee of experts.

"Admittedly, the forces that make up our weather are vastly greater than the power of those atom blasts. But the really important question is rather: 'Can an A-bomb explosion trigger an explosion in the atmosphere?'

"We all know," continues the physicist, "that a few handfuls of silver iodide, properly vaporized, can bring down thousands of tons of rainfall. The silver iodide simply 'triggers' the action. For years, scientists have performed experiments with the Wilson cloud chamber — that's a glass chamber containing clear, moist air. And when we inject a few charged particles into the chamber, such as electrons, the moist air rapidly condenses into drops of water. The key fact in this experiment is that the particles are charged particles.

"Following an atom blast the air becomes full of dust particles—not just ordinary dust, but radioactive, or charged dust. It's practically the same kind of charged 'dust' we use to trigger the reaction in the Wilson cloud chamber. When the conditions are right, a very small trigger of charged dust particles can produce a huge reaction, out of all proportions to the size of the trigger."

"Take the case of the Eastman Kodak Co., for example," explained the physicist. "They're located in Rochester, N. Y. — almost 3,000 miles away from the atom test grounds. Despite the distance, however, Eastman can detect radiation from an A-blast on their photographic film in Rochester. In fact, Eastman authorities are warned in advance of each explosion so they can safeguard their film from the radioactive dust shot into the air 3,000 miles away. Remember, this is charged dust, and if it can float to Rochester, it can also float to Worcester, Mass., or Flint, Mich., or Cleveland, Ohio, where they've just had tornadoes.

"I'm not saying flatly that there's a connection between the atom explosions and the tornadoes. But I certainly think there's enough evidence to make us want to examine the whole subject. Remember, a small trigger can set off a mighty big explosion. And those floating particles of radioactive dust may be just the trigger that old man weather needs to send him on a rampage."

Dam Vs. Indian Villages

Karl Mundt, the plump and pleasant senator from South Dakota, didn't count on any opposition when his wife charmed Postmaster General Summerfield into going to bat for Oahe Dam when she sat beside him at a Washington dinner party.

Thanks to Mrs. Mundt's persuasive charm, Summerfield used his own persuasion on the director of the Budget and got $8,250,000 for Oahe Dam restored to the budget—on condition the senator from South Dakota cut $8,250,000 from some other part of the budget. This Mundt promptly did by slicing $8,300,000 from the State Department's hard-pressed appropriation, after which he wrote his constituents: "Mary (Mrs. Mundt) is wondering whether she should register as a lobbyist or concentrate on starting to erect a statue to Art Summerfield at the Oahe site."

Despite the senator's enthusiasm, however, all is not plain sailing for Oahe Dam. In the first place, South Dakota farmers living along the Missouri who will be flooded out, are not happy. Second, John Foster Dulles' State Department is not happy — in fact, is boiling mad and determined to get its cut restored.

Finally, and most interesting of all, there's a growing tide of opposition from scientists and historians who point out that the waters of Oahe reservofr will flood some of the most priceless prehistoric Indian ruins on the North American continent.

Impatient Mundt

The bones of elephants, crocodiles, Indian pottery thousands of years old, a total of some 400 Indian cities and villages will be covered up by the waters of Oahe reservoir, never to be recovered, once the dam is built. And scientists suggest that pleasant, plump and popular Senator Mundt might wait just a year or two more to give them time to recover these priceless treasures.

"After all," they reason, "the senator's term doesn't expire until 1955, and he comes from a safely Republican state. Why not give us more time to recover these historic relics — and also perhaps let the State Department continue its difficult work of guiding our foreign affairs without cutting it to the bone."

The reason this particular part of South Dakota is so important to the history of this continent is that, when the ice ages pushed great glaciers down from the Arctic, they literally put the Indian civilization of that area in a deep freeze. Carefully preserved under layers of glacial deposit and silt from the Black Hills is the exact replica of Indian life going back thousands of years. Alongside it are more recent villages dating back to the white man's first discovery of the continent.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Looked at from the American side, the government of the Republic of Korea broke faith with the United Nations command and took a military action on its own when it released anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Looked at from the point of view of the Korean government, however, this was the right of any ally which had been threatened with the loss of its territorial integrity and particularly with coercion unless it signed an armistice that it bitterly opposed.

Looked at from the Korean government's point of view also, any armistice agreement which stipulated that 5,000 troops from India should be permitted in South Korea to police prison camps was a humiliation that could not be borne. To imply that the Korean government should accept the services of a country admittedly hostile was a serious blow to the pride of the republic. For India, though a member of the United Nations, has chosen to call itself "neutral," when everybody knows that Prime Minister Nehru, by his public statements favoring the immediate admission of Red China into the UN and refusal to ban shipments of strategic goods to Red China, has already prejudged the merits of the dispute.

Did Not Feel Bound

The South Korean government is not a member of the United Nations and, according to a statement by its president, has not been permitted to be a direct party to the truce negotiations. Failing to secure truce terms that would assure the unification of Korea and failing particularly to obtain an acceptance of the demand that all troops except Koreans of the North and South be withdrawn, President Rhee felt that he had a free hand. He did not feel bound as a sovereign government to an alliance which he felt had deserted him.

The American government, on the other hand, in the statement issued by the secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, after a conference with President Eisenhower, denounces the release of the prisoners by the Korean government as an "unilateral action" and as having been taken "in violation of the authority of the United Nations command to which the Republic of Korea has agreed."

There is no question about the fact that, when allies agree to any course of action, they are obligated to notify each other of the termination of such an alliance. While President Rhee has announced that he would not accept the armistice terms, and unquestionably has a legal right to separate his army from the United Nations command with or without notification, there is nevertheless a moral obligation to maintain a relationship of complete frankness with the United States Government.

All sorts of reasons justifying the course that the Korean president took can, of course, be made, including the provocative steps of the last several days when, despite his announced intention to maintain a resistance to the truce, the impression was conveyed that he would be forced to accept the truce terms anyway and that economic aid and other assistance would be withdrawn immediately by the UN if he didn't. This probably seems to Syngman Rhee an arbitrary step that was being taken without a full discussion of the issues on their merits.

Believe Truce Coming Soon

It is a regrettable dispute, because the Korean government needs the good will of the United States government and because also, if the Communists are not sincere about making the truce, then the main job of fighting falls back on the shoulders of the troops of Syngman Rhee.

Incidentally, if, despite wnat has happened, the Communists sign the truce, it will be a clear indication that they want it badly, but, if they construe this episode to be a basis for a breakup of all negotiations, it could mean that they didn't really want the truce after all.

Opinion here still inclines to the belief that some sort of truce will be signed soon by the UN command and that the Korean government, while never agreeing to the truce terms, will agree nevertheless not to engage in hostilities during the period of the political conference.

Nobody Burned Books

One of the advantages of not writing about every story immediately is that one can wait for the froth to blow away and for the substance to assert itself. The chance remark by President Eisenhower at Dartmouth College caused more excitement than was due it.

No one has burned any books and if the President indicated that someone had, he was unfortunately in error, although I must say that it would cause little damage to civilization if the pornographic miseries that are being sold to our children on newsstands and in candy stores were burned. Also some of the mystery stories which substitute filthy expressions for skillful narrative could well be burned with little loss to anyone.

But the issue at hand has nothing to do with such crudities. It apparently deals with the millions of dollars that the American taxpayer spends on American libraries scattered over the world as part of our program of psychological warfare. These libraries are sheer propaganda. That is the sole reason for which Congress appropriated money for them. The design was that Europeans and Asiatics should be given an opportunity to read the best that the United States produces in the various fields of literature.

Richard Humphrey, acting director of the Information Service Centers of the Department of State, addressed the following letter to Senator Joseph McCarthy which I quote in full:

"In response to Mr. Schine's request of today to state in a simple sentence the purpose of the Overseas Library Program, perhaps the following will suit the committees needs — the Overseas Library Program exists to reflect American objectives, values, the nature of American institutions and life and to utilize the books and related material to advance the ideas of America in the struggle against communism."

This is a succinct statement of fact. It clearly defines the overseas libraries as agencies of propaganda. That is what they should be. But how is it possible to fight communism and the Russians by spending millions of American dollars to set forth the Russian point of view in opposition to the United States and the American point of view?

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles put it clearly when he said: "My own feeling is that books which are of an essentially propaganda nature, designed to sell communism and be persuasive in support of communism, should not be books on which we should expend the rather meager funds which are designed for quite a contrary purpose."

It is true that the McCarthy committee uncovered the use that the Communists were making of the American overseas libraries, but neither Senator McCarthy nor his committee could remove one book or even a pamphlet from the shelves of these libraries. They had no authority in the matter. The order to remove came from President's State Department as the order to purchase the Communist books came from Dean Acheson's State Department.

If these libraries are to show the best in American life, must they include works of men who denounce their own country and its government in favor of another country? For instance, how many Americans would be willing to say that Howard Fast represents the best in American life? Is it necessary for the United States to propagandize Howard Fast?

Somebody invents a slogan, such as witch-hunting, and immediately it becomes a propagandistic cover-all, to be used where it does not fit. For instance, why is it not right in a period of a cold war in Europe and a hot war in Asia for this country to inquire whether the enemy is employing a fifth column in the United States? It is known that this enemy has been employing native fifth columns in all other countries. Why not in the United States? Why should we be the exception?

Actually, we do know that Russia has not only used Americans for anti-American propaganda in the United States but has also used Americans as spies—and that is how they got the atom bomb.

Therefore, eternal, everlasting vigilance requires a constant scrutiny of the enemy's conduct within the United States. What we need to get excited about is how the enemy diabolically got into the affairs of the State Department so that he could put the books he favors and that favor him on the shelves of American propaganda libraries overseas.

Here And Now

The Big Idea

FATHER'S DAY

Everybody has a big idea— big to one if not to others. Bill Nye in his humorous "History of the United States" hails the man who "first conceived the idea of putting New Orleans molasses into Boston brown bread."

Children are personified interrogation points, asking in a minute more questions than their mothers can answer in an hour.

One day the inquisitive mind begins to explore. What about the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow? What about Santa Claus? What makes the watch tick, or the engine run?

At the turn of adolescence, body and mind enter a period of rapid development. The mind is fecund with ideas never before seen or heard on land or sea. It's the age of daydreaming, the reading of many books, hero worshiping, falling in love with pictures of movie stars and other celebrities.

All these ravishing experiences of youth are inchoate ideas struggling to break through their shell into a new world of realism.

Parents wonder what their children will be when they grow up Palm reading and crystal gazing are not so predicative as ones dreams and dominant ideas. If one "lisps in numbers," as did Pope when he was a child, he is apt to become a poet. If the girl loves to dress dolls and play house, she may be headed toward housewifery. If the lad likes to play church and take up the collection, put him down for a budding preacher. If one is born to his calling he has a running start.

A certain poor farm boy wanted a nigher education. He wrote the college for a catalog, and found that if he could win all the prizes offered he would have enough money to pay his tuition and all expenses for the four-year course. He put a "V" on his desk, meaning Valedictorian, and went after his goal in a big way. He won all the prizes but one, and graduated with highest honors. He hung out his shingle and immediatelyy attracted a large law practice, from which he leaped at a single bound onto the floor of the United States Senate. There, after a firsthand study of the Philippine Islands issue then current, he electrified the nation with his maiden speech, at the age of 28.

Our cockeyed world has recently witnessed a bonanza of royalty in full bloom, accented by an exchange of compliments between a loyal subject and his sovereign — Edmund Hillary, with undiscourageable effort, negotiating the highest peak of Mt. Everest and planting there the Union Jack as a coronation gift to the queen of the British empire, and Queen Elizabeth's gracious response in dubbing him a knight.

A prince can make a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, an' a'that:
But an honest man's aboon his might.

In that sector where manhood is made there is no monopoly. On Father's Day, we fathers accept the challenge of noblesse oblige, and we sons and daughters knight our fathers, not by giving them a wrist watch or a necktie, which would be very nice, but by the renewal of our pledge to high thinking and noble living, which is far better.

Hats off! to a good man sent to Congress. My preacher friend campaigned for him, and in appreciation of his good work the congressman-elect called to ask if there was anything we wanted from Washington. If so, he would get it, if possible. My friend replied:: Not a thing! All I ask is that you make good." At the end of the first session he came back to his district to "be told." Reporting to his benefactor he said proudly "I have made good!" And that was in Washington—a high pressure area!

Such ideas as internationalism, world brotherhood, and the oneness of the human race, are of slow gestation. Now that these ideas seem to be in the throes of parturition, we pray that they will not be stillborn.

The graduates of an eastern university were gathered at commencement for a farewell party in the banquet room of the Waldorf-Astoria. They were all sons of financial and industrial tycoons, and would be expected to step at once on graduation into positions of prominence. They had invited a distinguished speaker to address them.

After all had partaken of the sumptuous feast and after the exchange of bonmots and pleasantries, the guest speaker was introduced. He said he would not weary them with a magnum opus, but would ask a few simple questions, make a comment or two, and sit down.

Lifting a repousse-handled dinner knife, he asked, "Can anyone here have made this?" There was no reply. Pointing to the crystal embellished chandeliers, he asked if anyone present could make their duplicates? "Could anyone of you have woven these gorgeous Oriental rugs or laid the parquetry floor. The silence was becoming oppressive. He pointed to the beautiful murals, the friezes, the table linens, in succession, with a negative response in each instance. As the silence grew tense he said: "Gentlemen, I do not want to embarrass you. I didn't expect affirmative answers to my questions.

"And now may I present to you the Unseen Guest who has been with us all evening. As he stands before us, in imagination, I ask the Carpenter of Galilee: "Friend Jesus, is there anything here of Thy craft? Is there anything you could have made?" Advancing, He lifts the corner of the tablecloth, lays His hand gently on the manogany table, and says, "Yes, I could have made this table."

"Now," said the speaker, in conclusion, "when you go out into life to become masters of men, as many of you will, remember that you are dealing with men who have the "know-how" and are also brothers of our Lord."

And that is the big idea!

Bid On County Car Withdrawn By Auto Dealer

A local car dealer who had previously submitted the low bid on furnishing a new auto for use by the sheriff's office yesterday withdrew the offer.

Woodrow W. Gurley, who had offered to allow a $1,500 trade-in on a used car being operated by the sheriff's office, explained that he made the original offer June 9 in anticipation of a ready sale of the machine.

The cost to the county would have been $735.25 for a new eight-cylinder Dodge car under Gurley's original offer. The dealer made a qualifying offer of $937.25 as a trade-in allowance, but the commissioners said they could not accept this bid legally.

Actually the county's delay in accepting Gurley's bid cost it approximately $500.

It was decided to purchase an Oldsmobile eight-cylinder machine from the Frantz Oldsmobile Company at a total cost to the county of $1,206.20. Sheriff Edward R. Muir appeared before the commissioners and said the Olds was suitable for the purposes of his office.

The commissioners also passed an order today naming Palmer Howsare as constable-at-large for the Flintstone district. He will receive no salary from the county but will be remunerated by fees prescribed by law in handling his duties.

A bill submitted by James Bonner for damages of $700.45 which he claims was done to his garage, road and property by a grader being operated by the County Roads Department was ordered filed.

The commissioners commented that damages claimed for the garage building were in excess of the assessed valuation of the property.

Seven Health Department orders to residents of the Narrows Park and Corriganville section in connection with drainage of water and sewage on state highways were approved by the commissioners.

Autopsy Determines Cause Of Man's Death

An autopsy performed on Grover C. Harman who died Saturday night in a Baltimore Hospital where he was taken for treatment of injuries sustained in a truck-train accident here, has set the cause of his death.

The Baltimore City medical examiner's office yesterday said the cause was "extreme emaciation due to second and third degree burns."

Harman was injured when the Klavuhn Coal Company truck he was driving was struck by a Western Maryland passenger train at the Virginia Avenue crossing on January 23.

SRC Seeks Bids On Road Work

The State Roads Commission has advertised for bids on the relocating and improvement of a mile of State Route 495 in the area adjacent to the brick plant at Jennings, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

Chaires said the section to be improved is very narrow, has poor grades and is generally below par. Completion of the project will result in a fairly modern highway between Grantsville and Bittinger, Chaires pointed out.

The specifications for the job include a 22-foot width of hardsurfacing and seven-foot shoulders on each side. This will provide clear vision along the highway. Bids will be opened July 7.

The highway is an access road to the Deep Creek Lake resort area and also to the Pleasant Valley Recreation Area in Garrett County.

Local Woman Is New SC Officer

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 19 (AP)—More than one thousand rural Maryland farm women returned to their homes tonight better prepared, theoretically at least, to run them better.

The short course wound up this morning with Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, presenting certificates to 121 women who attended for four years.

Mrs. Jiram C. Houghton of the Mutual Security Agency told the women they should practice gentleness, frugality and humility to become leaders among men. She urged them to "glorify the commonplace things."

The Women's Short Course Club elected two new officers, Mrs. Edward Kilroy of Allegany County, vice president, and Mrs. Charles W. Coulbourn of Salisbury, secretary.

Auxiliary To Meet

The Ladies Auxiliary 659, IBCJA will hold a social meeting Monday at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Harvey May, 711 Shriver Avenue.

A basket picnic for members and their families will be held July 8 at 6 p. m., in Constitution Park.

Local Woman Is New SC Officer

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 19 (AP)—More than one thousand rural Maryland farm women returned to their homes tonight better prepared, theoretically at least, to run them better.

The short course wound up this morning with Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, presenting certificates to 121 women who attended for four years.

Mrs. Jiram C. Houghton of the Mutual Security Agency told the women they should practice gentleness, frugality and humility to become leaders among men. She urged them to "glorify the commonplace things."

The Women's Short Course Club elected two new officers, Mrs. Edward Kilroy of Allegany County, vice president, and Mrs. Charles W. Coulbourn of Salisbury, secretary.

C&W Bus Line Gives Reasons For Dropping Service

The Cumberland and Western-port Transit Company has filed an application with the Maryland Public Service Commission for an order permitting the abandonment of its bus lines between Cumberland and Bloomington.

The company currently services five separate routes, the petition states:

1. Cumberland to Bloomington via U. S. Route 40, to Frostburg, State Route 36 to Westernport and State Route 135 to Bloomington and return.
2. Cumberland to Amcelle via U. S. Route 40, Allegany Grove Road, State Route 53, and Route 220.
3. Westernport to Amcelle via State Route 36; to Frostburg,US Route 40 to State Route 53 to US Route 220.
4. Frostburg to Mt. Savage on State Route 36.
5. Frostburg city trip that traveled over Sand Spring and Main Streets via Water, Lou, High, Sand Spring and return via Main, Bowery, Oak and Hill Streets, Park Avenue, Bowery and Main Streets.

Patronage Declines

The application states that patronage from these routes for the past several years has not covered operating expenses, depreciation and taxes, although efforts were made to do so by means of reduced schedules.

The decline in the operating revenues, the petition states, was: For 1949, $288,044; for 1950, $260,097; for 1951, $222,867; for 1952, $196,441 and for the first five months of 1953, $73,377.

The loss during this time, was $5,388 for 1949; $1,559 for 1950; $9,535 for 1951; $30,993 for 1952, and for the first five months of 1953, $9,261.

The application also pointed out that reduction in employment by the largest employer in Allegany County during the past seven years—Celanese, Kelly, West Virginia Pulp and Paper and the mining industry, has amounted to approximately 50 per cent.

Many Leave Area

The petition also states there has been a general exodus of many persons from the Georges Creek region, and a vast increase in the use of personal autos for transportation to work;

The company stated "that it is confronted, by continuing its operations with great loss; and if it is forced to continue the same for any considerable length of time, it can be done by the dissipation of the remaining assets of the company."

The application was concluded by this point.

"That for said reasons, the directors of your petitioner, at their meeting April 7, passed a resolution to the effect that they believed, and so recommended to the petitioner, that all of the operations of said company as a common carrier by buses should be discontinued and terminated, and that this resolution should be referred to the stockholders."

Stockholders Approve

It noted that the stockholders met June 3 and the resolution was approved by a vote of 91.5 per cent of all its common and preferred stock, and authorized a petition of abandonment be filed with the PSC.

Originally three trolley lines, the C&W Electric Railway Company was organized when the three lines merged in 1916. At about this same time the company became a subsidiary of Cities Service.

In 1926 the C&W Electric Railway Company went into receivership and was reorganized as the C&W Transit Company. The company remained a subsidiary of Cities Service until Adolf Blunk, present head of the concern, bought up the controlling interest of stock in 1935 and became the company's president.

Blunk, who had been with Cities Service for 25 years, came to Frostburg from Sandusky, Ohio, in 1933 as general manager and vice president, succeeding David D. Price who had worked up through the positions of master mechanic and superintendent of the road to the general managership.

At present the bus line operates 19 buses and has 28 employes. Its peak employment was during the war years when the concern operated with 25 buses and had 65 people working for it.

William B. Ludman is vice president and treasurer of the company while Walter E. Mackay is secretary.

The PSC has set no date for a hearing.

Weather

About the only thing that could be said of yesterday's weather is that it was suspenseful. Gloomy clouds threatened rain all morning and in the early afternoon, but they never quite came through. The sun came out long enough to turn the humid atmosphere into a sticky blanket. Today won't be much better, says the Weather Bureau, which predicts fair but hazy skies, warm and humid weather, with highest temperature 85 to 90. Yesterday's official high was 85, the low, 60, and humidity at 6 p. m. was 62 per cent.

About the only thing that could be said of yesterday's weather is that it was suspenseful. Gloomy clouds threatened rain all morning and in the early afternoon, but they never quite came through. The sun came out long enough to turn the humid atmosphere into a sticky blanket. Today won't be much better, says the Weather Bureau, which predicts fair but hazy skies, warm and humid weather, with highest temperature 85 to 90. Yesterday's official high was 85, the low, 60, and humidity at 6 p. m. was 62 per cent.

Five Long Shots Score At Fairgo

Crosscut Pays $33, Top Price; $181,079 Bet

Six-Day Handle Is Up 6 Per Cent; 4,500 See Bauer Score Triple

Long shots won five of the eight races, Lamar Bauer brought home three winners and N. J. Greco tied W. F. Parks for first place in the race for the leading trainers' prize yesterday at Fairgo on the sixth day of the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day racing meet.

A gathering of 4,500 persons turned out for the Pennsylvania Day program and wagered a total of $181,079 to up the six-day pari mutuel handle to $1,107,231 compared to $1,043,085 bet during the corresponding period last year, an increase of $64,146 or six per cent. Yesterday's handle topped the sixth day of 1952 by $3,428.

Crosscut Returns $33

The day for good prices saw J. H. Roy's Crosscut, with Bauer atop, annex the major portion of the purse in the third to reward backers with $33 for the top payoff.

Eugene Dosher piloted Chestnut Cross, an 11 to 1 shot, which captured the sixth and returned $24 mutuel.

Danny Scocca, the Baltimoran, who had 15 mounts and piloted eight into the money thus far, scored his fifth win of the meeting aboard Amita's Girl, a 9-1 shot, which took the 6½ furlongs eighth for the third best payoff of the meet—$20.60 for $2.

In registering a triple for the day, Bauer won with two more outsiders, namely, Fox Challenge ($12.20) in the second and Tarry Not ($15.20) which scored two lengths over Fireagain, the favorite, in the fifth.

Mrs. R. H. Lomas' Jacodancer, with Willie Clark in the pilot house, won by photo finish over Constant Devil in the fourth for an $8.60 mutuel.

Two Favorites Score

Favorites that registered were Miss C. Marshall's Dividandy in the opener and Lucky Patti in the eighth and final event on the card Eighteen out of the 48 public choices have won here in six days for an average of 37.5 per cent.

Backers of Dividandy (4) and Fox Challenge (3), the winning daily double combination received $31.20 on each $2 pasteboard. The double pool amounted to $18,508.

The battle for the gold wrist watch offered to the leading trainer by Harvey's Jewelry Company has developed into a free-for-all with at least a half dozen in the running. N. J. Greco saddled Amita's Girl, victor in the seventh, and the five points enabled him to deadlocked W. F. Parks, who had a second and a third, for the leading. The tied pace-setters now have 22 points each but there are a flock of other conditioners breathing down their backs.

Breaks Maiden Here

Amita's Girl, incidentally, broke her maiden by annexing yesterday's seventh. It was the first win in 18 starts in two years for H. G. Freeman's 4-year-old bay filly.

Bauer amassed 18 points on the Pennsylvania Day program to hurdle several over riders and took over the runner-up spot in the jockey's race with a total of 42 tallies for the meet. With four days left, however, Mike Sorrentino still holds a commanding lead of 35 points with his grand total of 77. Mike had two seconds and one third yesterday.

SCORES TRIPLE — Lamar Bauer, above, moved into the runner-up spot in the jockeys' race at Fairgo yesterday when he booted home three winners and a place horse to up his total for the meeting to 42 points. Bauer's winners were all outsiders, namely, Fox Challenge ($12.20), Crosscut ($33) and Tarry Not ($15.20). He was also aboard High Bond which finished second in the opening race.

Ted Gray Stops New York Yanks With Five Hits

Delsing Belts Two Homers In 3-2 Win

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Ted Gray stopped the New York Yankees with five hits today, 3-2, for his first victory after nine straight defeats as Detroit rebounded from two disastrous beatings at Boston where the Tiger pitching staff yielded 40 runs in two days.

Ending the new Yankee winning streak at three, the Tigers came from behind with two home runs by Jim Delsing and a scoring single by Gerry Priddy.

Joe Collins' bunt single, followed by Gene Woodling's fourth homer of the year into the lower right field stands in the fourth, gave lefty Bob Kuzava a 2-0 lead in his first start of the season.

Delsing gave Detroit its first run in the fifth with a homer into the lower right field seats. He led off the seventh with a drive into the right field bleachers, his seventh homer. Kuzava retired the next two batters but, after pitcher Gray singled, he was replaced by Ray Scarborough.

Gray's fine job was particularly welcome to Manager Freddie Hutchinson whose Tigers absorbed a 17-1 drubbing Tuesday and a 23-3 beating yesterday when Boston scored 17 runs in the seventh inning for a new modern major league record.

Fairgo Briefs

By C. V. BURNS

TODAY is B.P.O. Elks Day at Fairgo and the racing program will be highlighted by the running of the Harry A. Manley Memorial, the 7th event on the card.

The Manley is named in honor of the former president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association who died before the 1942 meeting. Prior to Mr. Manley's death the Manley Handicap was a feature from 1936 through 1942 and was renamed the Manley Memorial in 1942.

To the owner of the winning horse in the one mile and a sixteenth feature will go a leg on the $1,000 imported wine cooler which has been won by 18 different owners. It must be won three times by the same owner to be retired.

THE 6TH RACE on the card will be the B.P.O. Elks Purse and the owner of the winner will receive a trophy from Cumberland Lodge No. 63. This is a 6½ furlongs event.

Pakistan visitors, Ambassador S. Amjid Ali and M. Shoaib, racing secretary of the Karachi Race Club, Lt., will be guests of the local association today.

THE SECOND CLAIM of the meeting was recorded yesterday when J. K. Wynkoop obtained Mistambo from Mrs. Roger E. Benton for $2,000. Mistambo, a winner here on Tuesday finished fourth in yesterday's sixth race.

THE BIGGEST mutuel handle for a Saturday in the past four meetings was $272,897 on the final day in 1951. Last year the final Saturday handle of $253,467 was tops for the meet.

THE RECORD DAY was $361,104 on the first Saturday in 1946. That's the meet at which the 10-day handle hit an all-time high of $3,078,127.

TOP PAYOFF here on a $2 win ticket was $161.80 on Ladys Favor in 1937. The daily double high dates back to 1942 when Grape Vine (8) and Vera M. (3) returned $1,463.80.

WAGERING at Fairgo in 1950 was off 11.2 per cent, went up 11.3 per cent in 1951 and was down 10.9 per cent last year.

Old Germans Host Demons Sunday "Joe Langan Day"

Tomorrow is "Joe Langan Day" at Penn Avenue Field where the Cumberland Old Germans will play hosts to the Frostburg Demons in a Bi-State Baseball League game at 2:30 o'clock.

Manager Frank Urbas announced last night that Ronnie Sisk will be on the firing line for the locals. Ray Rizzo is expected to pitch for the Mountain City nine.

The Old Germans lead the league with a 10-1 record. Westvaco trails by three games in the runner-up spot.

Cumberland holds two decisions over Frostburg, 16-8 and 12-11.

Bobo Olson Beats Young

Champion Is Victor By Unanimous Vote

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—Carl (Bobo) Olson of Honolulu and San Francisco hammered out a unanimous 15-round decision over Paddy Young of New York tonight for the American middleweight championship.

Olson now is scheduled to meet Randy Turpin of England for the world title that was vacated last year by the retirement of Sugar Ray Robinson. The Olson-Turpin bout is slated to be held in New York in September.

Olson, a solid 5 to 2 choice in the betting, was in command throughout tonight's brisk, crowd-pleasing battle of hooks and flurries at Madison Square Garden.

Outweighing Young by a matter of one quarter of a pound, 159¾ to 159½, the westerner was ahead 12 rounds to 3 on the card of Judge Arthur Susskind; 11-3 with one even on the card of Judge Arthur Aidala; and 9-4-2 on the card of Referee Petey Scalzo.

Eleven College Crews Will Vie In 51st Regatta

Navy And Washington Loom As Best Bets

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—It's East against West and master against former pupil tomorrow when Navy, victorious in 19 straight races, defends its championship in the 51st Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta.

If Coach Rusty Callow's sturdy eight-oar varsity crew is to be denied triumph No. 20, the shell expected to do it is that of the University of Washington, coached by one of Callow's old proteges, Al Ulbrickson.

There are 11 crews in the featured race, a three-mile test down Lake Onondaga's straightaway course, but the rowing faithful have tabbed it a two-shell duel, with Wisconsin and Cornell conceded only outside chances of upsetting the dope.

The year's climactic water show will begin at 3:45 p. m. (EST).

After warnings of possible bad conditions all week, the weather bureau now forecasts sunny skies with the temperature in the high 80's and a mild 15 to 20 m.p.h tailwind, which shouldn't make the waters too choppy.

Dorish Beats A's

PHILADELPHIA, June 19 (AP)—Harry Dorish came in to stave off a ninth inning Philadelphia rally tonight as the Chicago White Sox beat the Athletics 5-2. Bob Elliott provided the clincher with a two-run double in the top of the ninth.

Dividandy, was sent to the front almost immediately, increased the advantage willingly and was going away at the end. Lanna Lee, raced prominently but had little left when called on in the drive. Abbe's Time, turned in an even effort. Little Adam hung. Video Queen has some early foot.

Fox Challenge, away fastest and in good racing position, came to the outside of Admiral Glit to dispose of that one inside the furlong marker and gradually drew away. American Cross, between horses into the first turn, came out to overtake the tiring Admiral Glit but could not challenge the winner. Admiral Glit, engaged Confection in an early duel, then had little left for the final bid. Nimble K. Fox closed in a belated rush. Confection tired. Bridle Pat was never a strong threat.

Jacodancer, slow to get under way, made up ground steadily while weaving between horses down the backstretch, responded to increased pressure the final furlong and nipped Constant Devil at the wire. Constant Devil, in closest pursuit of My Pastime, attained a clear lead in midstretch, then just missed. Juldee, was sent to a runner up possition while on the outside in the stretch turn, then had nothing left. He Win, faltered the last furlong. My Pastime stopped.

Hercules Powder Kegs handed Hayden Phillips his first defeat in eleven starts this season by whipping the Potomac Valley Cubs yesterday in a County Softball League game at Triple Lakes by the score of 5-4.

The victory enabled Hercules to tie Potomac Valley for the runner-up spot, one full game back of Central Quick Lunch which bowed to the Sports Shoppe yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 9-6.

A 4-run explosion in the 7th inning enabled the Powder Kegs to register their 12th win of the season.

Frank Urbas rapped a double and single while Ritchie Middleton had two singles for the winners. Hounshell and Phillips connected for a two-bagger and one base knock apiece for the Cubs.

The Sports Shoppe scored seven runs in the first two innings to whip Central Lunch's front runners. All of the players in the Sports Shoppe lineup hit safely but Cook, Birmingham and Decker headed the 11-hit attack with two blows each. Mayo hit safely twice for the losers.

A four-run rally in the 6th inning enabled Cunningham's Grocery to defeat Ellerslie at East Side Field by the score of 7-6.

The game was highlighted by the relief pitching of Vernon Wharton who came on in the 5th, struck out the side in the top of the 7th and also batted in the winning run. Jim Mangus and "Moon" Stotler of Sports Shoppe and Lowery and Myers of Ellerslie collected two hits each. Scores:

Burke Ties Haas In Inverness Golf

TOLEDO, O., June 19 (AP)—Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. and Freddie Haas of New Orleans staged par - shattering performances today to tie at the halfway mark in the 72-hole Inverness Invitational tournament with scores of 132—or 10 under the card.

Burke set a new competitive record for the historic Inverness 6,545-yard par 71 layout as he bagged nine birdies for a 64 to catch Haas, who led the first day's round with 67. Haas, his putter blazing, had seven birdies as he came home with a 65.

Skee Riegel, former National Amateur champion who tied Haas for the first round lead at 67, slipped to 70 today to deadlock with long-hitting Chick Harbert and Skip Alexander at 137 for third place, five strokes off the pace as Haas and Burke turned the scrap into a two-man fight. Herbert put together rounds of 68 and 69. Alexander got into the three-way deadlock by canning a 65-yard chip shot for an eagle deuce on the 36th hole.

Five Long Shots Score At Fairgo

Six-Day Handle Is Up 6 Per Cent; 4,500 See Bauer Score Triple

Long shots won five of the eight races, Lamar Bauer brought home three winners and N. J. Greco tied W. F. Parks for first place in the race for the leading trainers' prize yesterday at Fairgo on the sixth day of the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day racing meet.

A gathering of 4,500 persons turned out for the Pennsylvania Day program and wagered a total of $181,079 to up the six-day pari mutuel handle to $1,107,231 compared to $1,043,085 bet during the corresponding period last year, an increase of $64,146 or six per cent. Yesterday's handle topped the sixth day of 1952 by $3,428.

Crosscut Returns $33

The day for good prices saw J. H. Roy's Crosscut, with Bauer atop, annex the major portion of the purse in the third to reward backers with $33 for the top payoff.

Eugene Dosher piloted Chestnut Cross, an 11 to 1 shot, which captured the sixth and returned $24 mutuel.

Danny Scocca, the Baltimoran, who had 15 mounts and piloted eight into the money thus far, scored his fifth win of the meeting aboard Amita's Girl, a 9-1 shot, which took the 6½ furlongs eighth for the third best payoff of the meet—$20.60 for $2.

In registering a triple for the day, Bauer won with two more outsiders, namely, Fox Challenge ($12.20) in the second and Tarry Not ($15.20) which scored two lengths over Fireagain, the favorite, in the fifth.

Two Favorites Score

Favorites that registered were Miss C. Marshall's Dividandy in the opener and Lucky Patti in the eighth and final event on the card Eighteen out of the 48 public choices have won here in six days for an average of 37.5 per cent.

Backers of Dividandy (4) and Fox Chanllenge (3), the winning daily double combination received $31.20 on each $2 pasteboard. The double pool amounted to $18,508.

The battle for the gold wrist watch offered to the leading trainer by Harvey's Jewelry Company has developed into a free-for-all with at least a half dozen in the running. N. J. Greco saddled Amita's Girl, victor in the seventh, and the five points enabled him to deadlocked W. F. Parks, who had a second and a third, for the leading. The tied pace-setters now have 22 points each but there are a flock of other conditioners breathing down their backs.

Breaks Maiden Here

Amita's Girl, incidentally, broke her maiden by annexing yesterday's seventh. It was the first win in 18 starts in two years for H. G. Freeman's 4-year-old bay filly.

Bauer amassed 18 points on the Pennsylvania Day program to hurdle several over riders and took over the runner-up spot in the jockey's race with a total of 42 tallies for the meet. With four days left, however, Mike Sorrentino still holds a commanding lead of 35 points with his grand total of 77. Mike had two seconds and one third yesterday.

SCORES TRIPLE — Lamar Bauer, above, moved into the runner-up spot in the jockeys' race at Fairgo yesterday when he booted home three winners and a place horse to up his total for the meeting to 42 points. Bauer's winners were all outsiders, namely, Fox Challenge ($12.20), Crosscut ($33) and Tarry Not ($15.20). He was also aboard High Bond which finished second in the opening race.

Ted Gray Stops New York Yanks With Five Hits

Delsing Belts Two Homers In 3-2 Win

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Ted Gray stopped the New York Yankees with five hits today, 3-2, for his first victory after nine straight defeats as Detroit rebounded from two disastrous beatings at Boston where the Tiger pitching staff yielded 40 runs in two days.

Ending the new Yankee winning streak at three, the Tigers came from behind with two home runs by Jim Delsing and a scoring single by Gerry Priddy.

Joe Collins' bunt single, followed by Gene Woodling's fourth homer of the year into the lower right field stands in the fourth, gave lefty Bob Kuzava a 2-0 lead in his first start of the season.

Delsing gave Detroit its first run in the fifth with a homer into the lower right field seats. He led off the seventh with a drive into the right field bleachers, his seventh homer. Kuzava retired the next two batters but, after pitcher Gray singled, he was replaced by Ray Scarborough.

Gray's fine job was particularly welcome to Manager Freddie Hutchinson whose Tigers absorbed a 17-1 drubbing Tuesday and a 23-3 beating yesterday when Boston scored 17 runs in the seventh inning for a new modern major league record.

Fairgo Briefs

By C. V. BURNS

TODAY is B.P.O. Elks Day at Fairgo and the racing program will be highlighted by the running of the Harry A. Manley Memorial, the 7th event on the card.

The Manley is named in honor of the former president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association who died before the 1942 meeting. Prior to Mr. Manley's death the Manley Handicap was a feature from 1936 through 1942 and was renamed the Manley Memorial in 1942.

To the owner of the winning horse in the one mile and a sixteenth feature will go a leg on the $1,000 imported wine cooler which has been won by 18 different owners. It must be won three times by the same owner to be retired.

THE 6TH RACE on the card will be the B.P.O. Elks Purse and the owner of the winner will receive a trophy from Cumberland Lodge No. 63. This is a 6½ furlongs event.

Pakistan visitors, Ambassador S. Amjid Ali and M. Shoaib, racing secretary of the Karachi Race Club, Lt., will be guests of the local association today.

THE SECOND CLAIM of the meeting was recorded yesterday when J. K. Wynkoop obtained Mistambo from Mrs. Roger E. Benton for $2,000. Mistambo, a winner here on Tuesday finished fourth in yesterday's sixth race.

THE BIGGEST mutuel handle for a Saturday in the past four meetings was $272,897 on the final day in 1951. Last year the final Saturday handle of $253,467 was tops for the meet.

THE RECORD DAY was $361,104 on the first Saturday in 1946. That's the meet at which the 10-day handle hit an all-time high of $3,078,127.

TOP PAYOFF here on a $2 win ticket was $161.80 on Ladys Favor in 1937. The daily double high dates back to 1942 when Grape Vine (8) and Vera M. (3) returned $1,463.80.

WAGERING at Fairgo in 1950 was off 11.2 per cent, went up 11.3 per cent in 1951 and was down 10.9 per cent last year.

Tomorrow is "Joe Langan Day" at Penn Avenue Field where the Cumberland Old Germans will play hosts to the Frostburg Demons in a Bi-State Baseball League game at 2:30 o'clock.

Manager Frank Urbas announced last night that Ronnie Sisk will be on the firing line for the locals. Ray Rizzo is expected to pitch for the Mountain City nine.

The Old Germans lead the league with a 10-1 record. Westvaco trails by three games in the runner-up spot.

Champion Is Victor By Unanimous Vote

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—Carl (Bobo) Olson of Honolulu and San Francisco hammered out a unanimous 15-round decision over Paddy Young of New York tonight for the American middleweight championship.

Olson now is scheduled to meet Randy Turpin of England for the world title that was vacated last year by the retirement of Sugar Ray Robinson. The Olson-Turpin bout is slated to be held in New York in September.

Olson, a solid 5 to 2 choice in the betting, was in command throughout tonight's brisk, crowd-pleasing battle of hooks and flurries at Madison Square Garden.

Outweighing Young by a matter of one quarter of a pound, 159¾ to 159½, the westerner was ahead 12 rounds to 3 on the card of Judge Arthur Susskind; 11-3 with one even on the card of Judge Arthur Aidala; and 9-4-2 on the card of Referee Petey Scalzo.

Eleven College Crews Will Vie In 51st Regatta

Navy And Washington Loom As Best Bets

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—It's East against West and master against former pupil tomorrow when Navy, victorious in 19 straight races, defends its championship in the 51st Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta.

If Coach Rusty Callow's sturdy eight-oar varsity crew is to be denied triumph No. 20, the shell expected to do it is that of the University of Washington, coached by one of Callow's old proteges, Al Ulbrickson.

There are 11 crews in the featured race, a three-mile test down Lake Onondaga's straightaway course, but the rowing faithful have tabbed it a two-shell duel, with Wisconsin and Cornell conceded only outside chances of upsetting the dope.

The year's climactic water show will begin at 3:45 p. m. (EST).

After warnings of possible bad conditions all week, the weather bureau now forecasts sunny skies with the temperature in the high 80's and a mild 15 to 20 m.p.h tailwind, which shouldn't make the waters too choppy.

Dorish Beats A's

PHILADELPHIA, June 19 (AP)—Harry Dorish came in to stave off a ninth inning Philadelphia rally tonight as the Chicago White Sox beat the Athletics 5-2. Bob Elliott provided the clincher with a two-run double in the top of the ninth.

Sauer, Jackson, Kiner Hit Homers In First

3CHICAGO, June 19 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers ended a four-game losing streak today as Russ Meyer hurled a 6-hit 7-1 victory in the second game of a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs won the opener 11-8, recording their fourth straight triumph as Hank Sauer, Ralph Kiner and Ransom Jackson hit homers—Jackson with the bases loaded.

Russ Meyer limited the Cubs to six hits for his fifth decision for the second place Dodgers.

The 22-year-old Belardi, playing first base due to Gil Hodges' foot injury, batted in five runs in Meyer's second taming of the Bruins. Meyer fanned eight, firing third strikes past Kiner and Sauer in succession in the sixth.

Remigino Fails In Lincoln Meet

Illinois' Williams Runs Century In 9-4

LINCOLN, Neb., June 19 (INS) — Lindy Remigino of Manhattan College, winner of the 100-meter dash in the Olympic games at Helsinki last summer, found competition a little too keen tonight in the national collegiate championship meet at Lincoln, Neb.

The New York speedster failed to qualify in the first heat of the 100-yard dash, running a poor sixth in a trial which Thane Baker of Kansas State won in 9.5 seconds.

The temperature which sizzled around 100 degrees at the University of Nebraska stadium and a 12-mile wind made record-breaking a rugged chore as the nation's top collegiate athletes began competition in the two-day meet.

Parry O'Brien of Southern California, another Olympic champion, fared better than did Remigino when he qualified for the shot-put finals with a heave nearly a foot better than the next best.

But O'Brien's 55 foot, 7¾ inches effort still was far off his current record of 59 feet, 2⅝ inches. He will have three chances in the final tomorrow to improve it.

Frostburg Cards Win, Bill Roberts Fans 10

FROSTBURG, June 19 — Bill Roberts struck out ten and yielded only three hits today as the pace-setting Cardinals whipped the Tigers in a Hot Stove League game by the score of 10-2. Darkness halted the game at the end of the fifth inning.

Bill Fearer, Tigers' hurler, whiffed seven and gave up six hits. No player obtained more than one hit.

Score:

TIGERS	010 10—	2	3 7
CARDS	220 06—10	6	2

Fearer and Plummer. Roberts and Drew.

Barton Dodgers Win

BARTON, June 19—The Dodgers edged the Red Sox in a Barton Little League game today by the score of 15-14.

Wetzel paced the Dodgers' attack with three safeties and Derham socked a homer and two-bagger. Lauder and Russell accounted for six of the losers' nine hits. Scores:

DODGERS	613 5x—15	10	4

Garcia Tames Nats, 4-2

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — Mike Garcia was staked to a four-run lead and breezed to his eighth victory tonight as Cleveland defeated Washington, 4-2. Garcia yielded eight hits, and struck out seven as the Indians sliced the New York Yankees' lead to a still formidable 10 gamee.

Cubs, Dodgers Split Twin Bill

Sauer, Jackson, Kiner Hit Homers In First

3CHICAGO, June 19 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers ended a four-game losing streak today as Russ Meyer hurled a 6-hit 7-1 victory in the second game of a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs won the opener 11-8, recording their fourth straight triumph as Hank Sauer, Ralph Kiner and Ransom Jackson hit homers—Jackson with the bases loaded.

Rookie Wayne Belardi's three run homer paced Brooklyn to its second game victory before 18,776 in near 100 degree temperature.

Russ Meyer limited the Cubs to six hits for his fifth decision for the second place Dodgers.

The 22-year-old Belardi, playing first base due to Gil Hodges' foot injury, batted in five runs in Meyer's second taming of the Bruins. Meyer fanned eight, firing third strikes past Kiner and Sauer in succession in the sixth.

Hagerstown Refuses Comment On Dorman

HAGERSTOWN, June 19 (AP)—Officials of the Hagerstown Braves refused to comment today on Fred (Dutch) Dorman's statement that he had resigned as manager of the Piedmont League entry because of "front office interference."

General Manager Rufus Edwards said the club had asked the parent Milwaukee Braves of the National League to help it land a successor to Dorman, who had piloted the Hagerstown team for seven seasons since 1941.

Remigino Fails In Lincoln Meet

Illinois' Williams Runs Century In 9-4

LINCOLN, Neb., June 19 (INS)—Lindy Remigino of Manhattan College, winner of the 100-meter dash in the Olympic games at Helsinki last summer, found competition a little too keen tonight in the national collegiate championship meet at Lincoln, Neb.

The New York speedster failed to qualify in the first heat of the 100-yard dash, running a poor sixth in a trial which Thane Baker of Kansas State won in 9.5 seconds.

The temperature which sizzled around 100 degrees at the University of Nebraska stadium and a 12-mile wind made record-breaking a rugged chore as the nation's top collegiate athletes began competition in the two-day meet.

Willie Williams of Illinois, Big 10 champion, tied the meet mark of 9.4 seconds to win his 100-yard semifinal, beating Baker by an eyelash.

Parry O'Brien of Southern California, another Olympic champion, fared better than did Remigino when he qualified for the shot-put finals with a heave nearly a foot better than the next best.

But O'Brien's 55 foot, 7¾ inches effort still was far off his current record of 59 feet, 2⅝ inches. He will have three chances in the final tomorrow to improve it.

Frostburg Cards Win, Bill Roberts Fans 10

FROSTBURG, June 19 — Bill Roberts struck out ten and yielded only three hits today as the pace-setting Cardinals whipped the Tigers in a Hot Stove League game by the score of 10-2. Darkness halted the game at the end of the fifth inning.

Bill Fearer, Tigers' hurler, whiffed seven and gave up six hits. No player obtained more than one hit.

Barton Dodgers Win

Wetzel paced the Dodgers' attack with three safeties and Derham socked a homer and two-bagger. Lauder and Russell accounted for six of the losers' nine hits. Scores:

West Virginia Farm Girl Will Visit Norway

Lewis Countian Sails From Montreal

Helen Cronin of Lewis County, W. Va., has sailed from Montreal, Quebec, on the Anna Salen en route to Norway where she will live and work with farm families as an International Farm Youth Exchange.

She will arrive in Norway June 29 and is scheduled to return to the United States November 10.

Miss Cronin was one of a group of 27 IFYE delegates who sailed to visit farm people in six countries. Other groups leaving the United States this month will bring the total number of Grass-Roots Ambassadors leaving this month to 81. The 81 delegates represent 4-H'ers in 36 states and Alaska They will visit 24 countries in Europe, the Middle East, Latin America, and the Far East.

Before sailing Miss Cronin took part in an intensive orientation program in Washington, and was briefed on such things as the cultural problems of the people she will visit, United States and world agriculture, and international relations. She also visited the Norwegian Embassy in Washington.

The International Farm Youth Exchange is a program for promoting world peace. Selected rural youth from this country live and work with farm families in other countries for four to six months. Farm youths from cooperating countries come to the United States to live nad work with farm people here.

No Federal of State funds are used to finance the exchanges. In West Virginia, the 4-H Clubs financed a large portion of Miss Cronin's trip.

Since the program began in 1948, more than 270 delegates—including five West Virginians — have gone abroad and about 215 farm youths from other countries have come here. In 1953, a program of approximately 135 two-way exchanges is planned.

IFYE is sponsored jointly by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Land Grant Colleges.

State's Attorney Fletcher gave an interesting account of the history of Allegany County. Andrew Shaw was program chairman.

Annual Family Picnic is planned for Sunday, June 28, at Bradley's Cabin, Deep Creek Lake, for the Rotary Club. Peebles appointed a committee, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connor, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kamauff, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cave and Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Peebles, to plan for the family picnic.

West Virginia Farm Girl Will Visit Norway

Lewis Countian Sails From Montreal

Helen Cronin of Lewis County, W. Va., has sailed from Montreal, Quebec, on the Anna Salen en route to Norway where she will live and work with farm families as an International Farm Youth Exchange.

She will arrive in Norway June 29 and is scheduled to return to the United States November 10.

Miss Cronin was one of a group of 27 IFYE delegates who sailed to visit farm people in six countries. Other groups leaving the United States this month will bring the total number of Grass-Roots Ambassadors leaving this month to 81. The 81 delegates represent 4-H'ers in 36 states and Alaska. They will visit 24 countries in Europe, the Middle East, Latin America, and the Far East.

Before sailing Miss Cronin took part in an intensive orientation program in Washington, and was briefed on such things as the cultural problems of the people she will visit, United States and world agriculture, and international relations. She also visited the Norwegian Embassy in Washington.

The International Farm Youth Exchange is a program for promoting world peace. Selected rural youth from this country live and work with farm families in other countries for four to six months. Farm youths from cooperating countries come to the United States to live nad work with farm people here.

No Federal of State funds are used to finance the exchanges. In West Virginia, the 4-H Clubs financed a large portion of Miss Cronin's trip.

Since the program began in 1948, more than 270 delegates—including five West Virginians — have gone abroad and about 215 farm youths from other countries have come here. In 1953, a program of approximately 135 two-way exchanges is planned.

IFYE is sponsored jointly by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Land Grant Colleges.

Wanted: Experienced auto body mechanic. G.M. Dealer, top wages, ideal working conditions. Please state experience and present job. Write Box 15, Times-News, Frostburg.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 19 (INS)—Let's say that Jerry Wald was influenced by C. B. De Mille's "The Greatest Show On Earth," which is the biggest grosser of the past few years. At any rate, Jerry is getting together a circus story, which goes before the camera in August, with the intriguing title of "Clowns In Baggy Pants."

Jerry's circus tale, made for Columbia of course, is an intimate backstage tale of Clown Alley, in which the routines of the funny men are created and tried out.

Mickey Rooney has already been signed as the smallest of the clowns. There will be three other top stars, and this will be in technicolor three-D.

This is the first role Shelley has had since the birth of her baby and she's rarin' to go. She'll be right at the same studio with her husband, Vittorio Gassman, who is starring in "Rhapsody" for MGM.

Pretty Audrey Dalton, as English as they come, stays at Paramount for the Bob Hope comedy, "Mr. Casanova."

Audrey, who recently announced that she'd been secretly married since January, took time away from Para to play the daughter of Clifton Webb and Barbara Stanwyck in "Titanic."

In the Hope picture Audrey will be seen as the most beautiful girl in Italy, and I'd like to tell you there's a hot deal cooking for Primo Carnera, former heavyweight boxing champ, to play Audrey's body guard. Although Carnera is not such great shakes as an actor, Ed Hartmann and Al Kanter, who are writing the screenplay, say this role is just right for the huge Italian ex-fighter.

If Sam Katzman films the early career of Bat Masterson in "Bat Masterson, Bad Man," he should contact me.

I was on the Morning Telegraph with Bat when he was writing sports. He was a gentle, kindly old man then, and many were the tall tales he told. Theodore Roosevelt, who was president (now I'll be telling my age next) sent for Bat to come to the White House.

Bat was the first sheriff in Dodgeville, Kansas, and it was he who went chasing the James Brothers. I used to sit and listen wide eyed to his adventures.

It was Bat who gave me my first ticket to a prize fight, but William E. Lewis, editor of the Morning Telegraph, though that this wasn't a proper sport for a lady to see.

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz are giving a party honoring Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes at the Cocoanut Grove on Wednesday night. That's the night Peter and Mary open there.

Yvonne De Carlo, who is talking about a personal appearance show, came to Margaret's soiree with Turhan Bey. This seems to be a thing.

Chatted with Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas, the town's love birds. Told me they will soon have a big story for me — I'll be waiting.

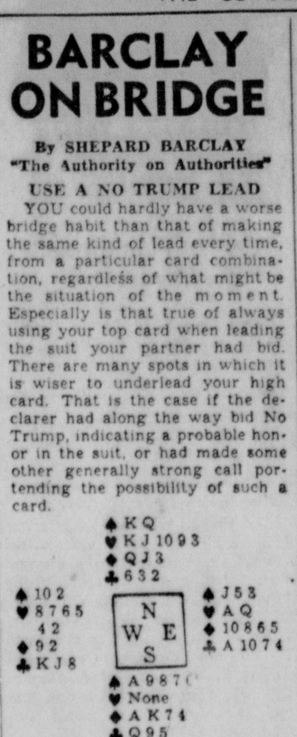
Took a look at the bathing beauties at the Cocoanut Grove, brought there by Linda Tallen. The judges, Peter Lind Hayes, Mary Healy, Buddy Ebsen, Jimmy McHugh, Frankie Laine and Randolph Rogers, voted for the most beautiful girls. Tomorrow night the winner will be chosen, with Abbott and Costello, honor guests of the greater Los Angeles Press Club's sixth birthday, as additional judges.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

USE A NO TRUMP LEAD

YOU could hardly have a worse bridge habit than that of making the same kind of lead every time, from a particular card combination, regardless of what might be the situation of the moment. Especially is that true of always using your top card when leading the suit your partner had bid. There are many spots in which it is wiser to underlead your high card. That is the case if the declarer had along the way bid No Trump, indicating a probable honor in the suit, or had made some other generally strong call portending the possibility of such a card.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	5 ♠

It's a good thing South didn't accept a No Trump contract. West's club 8 lead to the A and the 4 return to the J and K would have been followed by the heart 5, the Q and A producing two more tricks and the club 10 then setting the contract a second trick.

As it was, South had sense enough to refuse North's slam invitation of 5-Spades. North made that bid because all of South's actions combined made his hand sound very strong, in addition to which the defenders' bidding sounded to him like psychics on very weak hands. Even in the 5-Spades South ought to have been set, but wasn't, thanks to aid from West.

A player who never considers opening any card of his partner's suit except the top against a trump contract, he led the club K, then the J to the A. South thereupon took the third club with the Q and ran home in a hurry.

In a situation like this particularly, with South marked for some kind of club honor, West should have made the No Trumpish lead of the club 8. You can see what that would have done. The A, then the 4 to the J and the K would have nipped South before he could even untrack himself.

• • •

Your Weekend Question

Lacking any card of your partner's heart suit, what suit would you ordinarily prefer among the others as a lead if South had opened with 1-Club, North bid 1-Diamond, East 1-Heart, South 1-Spade, North 2-Diamonds, East 2-Hearts, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps?

This summer, according to fashion prophecy, you're going to be wearing styles that all men like best!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's going to be easier than ever this summer for a girl to cast a spell. All she has to do is put on her prettiest smile, her prettiest walk—and one of this summer's "pretty-lady" fashions.

Pretty-lady Fashions

A white embroidered organdy with a sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves, "la belle poitrine," a cloud of skirt and a whisper-pale-blue-satin sash, bow-tied in the back. Even the most efficient careerist will appear the essence of fragile femininity in such a creation!

To look like a vision floating on a moonbeam, choose a silk so sheer that it could fashion a sari, so pale as to be taken for moonglow and so draped that it reveals both your shoulders and its own petticoat's lace.

Pictorially perfect for the formal party is a long swirl-pleated nylon net (pleats swirled round the body as they do it in Paris for an especially mobile effect) with the low decolletage swathed in blush-pink satin and accented with one open pink rose.

Male Capitulation

Your choice, as you'll discover when you do the shops, is likely to be a little difficult because the collections of summer late-day and evening fashions are both so extensive and exquisite. But just remember this formula for enchantment, and success will be yours: Sheer material, subtle coloring, nature prints, softly revealing lines, gentle adornment.

The "look" you'll achieve obviously will not be one of siren sophistication. Neither will it be jeune fille. "Pretty lady" will be your effect and that's the one that always fetches male capitulation.

If Sam Katzman films the early career of Bat Masterson in "Bat Masterson, Bad Man," he should contact me.

I was on the Morning Telegraph with Bat when he was writing sports. He was a gentle, kindly old man then, and many were the tall tales he told. Theodore Roosevelt, who was president (now I'll be telling my age next) sent for Bat to come to the White House.

Bat was the first sheriff in Dodgeville, Kansas, and it was he who went chasing the James Brothers. I used to sit and listen wide eyed to his adventures.

It was Bat who gave me my first ticket to a prize fight, but William E. Lewis, editor of the Morning Telegraph, though that this wasn't a proper sport for a lady to see.

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz are giving a party honoring Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes at the Cocoanut Grove on Wednesday night. That's the night Peter and Mary open there.

Yvonne De Carlo, who is talking about a personal appearance show, came to Margaret's soiree with Turhan Bey. This seems to be a thing.

Chatted with Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas, the town's love birds. Told me they will soon have a big story for me — I'll be waiting.

Took a look at the bathing beauties at the Cocoanut Grove, brought there by Linda Tallen. The judges, Peter Lind Hayes, Mary Healy, Buddy Ebsen, Jimmy McHugh, Frankie Laine and Randolph Rogers, voted for the most beautiful girls. Tomorrow night the winner will be chosen, with Abbott and Costello, honor guests of the greater Los Angeles Press Club's sixth birthday, as additional judges.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

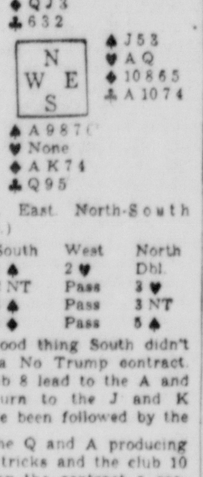
USE A NO TRUMP LEAD

YOU could hardly have a worse bridge habit than that of making the same kind of lead every time, from a particular card combination, regardless of what might be the situation of the moment. Especially is that true of always using your top card when leading the suit your partner had bid. There are many spots in which it is wiser to underlead your high card. That is the case if the declarer had along the way bid No Trump, indicating a probable honor in the suit, or had made some other generally strong call portending the possibility of such a card.



(Dealer, East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	5 ♠

It's a good thing South didn't accept a No Trump contract. West's club 8 lead to the A and the 4 return to the J and K would have been followed by the heart 5, the Q and A producing two more tricks and the club 10 then setting the contract a second trick.

As it was, South had sense enough to refuse North's slam invitation of 5-Spades. North made that bid because all of South's actions combined made his hand sound very strong, in addition to which the defenders' bidding sounded to him like psychics on very weak hands. Even in the 5-Spades South ought to have been set, but wasn't, thanks to aid from West.

A player who never considers opening any card of his partner's suit except the top against a trump contract, he led the club K, then the J to the A. South thereupon took the third club with the Q and ran home in a hurry.

In a situation like this particularly, with South marked for some kind of club honor, West should have made the No Trumpish lead of the club 8. You can see what that would have done. The A, then the 4 to the J and the K would have nipped South before he could even untrack himself.

• • •

Your Weekend Question

Lacking any card of your partner's heart suit, what suit would you ordinarily prefer among the others as a lead if South had opened with 1-Club, North bid 1-Diamond, East 1-Heart, South 1-Spade, North 2-Diamonds, East 2-Hearts, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps?

This summer, according to fashion prophecy, you're going to be wearing styles that all men like best!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's going to be easier than ever this summer for a girl to cast a spell. All she has to do is put on her prettiest smile, her prettiest walk—and one of this summer's "pretty-lady" fashions.

Pretty-lady Fashions

A white embroidered organdy with a sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves, "la belle poitrine," a cloud of skirt and a whisper-pale-blue-satin sash, bow-tied in the back. Even the most efficient careerist will appear the essence of fragile femininity in such a creation!

To look like a vision floating on a moonbeam, choose a silk so sheer that it could fashion a sari, so pale as to be taken for moonglow and so draped that it reveals both your shoulders and its own petticoat's lace.

Pictorially perfect for the formal party is a long swirl-pleated nylon net (pleats swirled round the body as they do it in Paris for an especially mobile effect) with the low decolletage swathed in blush-pink satin and accented with one open pink rose.

Male Capitulation

Your choice, as you'll discover when you do the shops, is likely to be a little difficult because the collections of summer late-day and evening fashions are both so extensive and exquisite. But just remember this formula for enchantment, and success will be yours: Sheer material, subtle coloring, nature prints, softly revealing lines, gentle adornment.

The "look" you'll achieve obviously will not be one of siren sophistication. Neither will it be jeune fille. "Pretty lady" will be your effect and that's the one that always fetches male capitulation.

Down in the Valley...

Touch and go! Anything can and most things do! The Browns take the Yanks and end the season's longest winning and losing streaks . . . the Braves fly high . . . and the ponies, oh woe, who knows? It's amazing how fast you can wind up in the soup or in salad when you plank down two on the nose. Amazing too how long a short shot can be and versa visa. Guys (and dolls) pay your money and take your choice and may the good lady of luck smile upon you. But remember this . . . you'll find the only sure thing Down In the Valley. After a hard day at the track (or the office, or beach, or easy chair) you'll need to relax with the swonderful victuals, viands and vision (tele-type) found only Down In the Valley. The atmosphere's perfect . . . prices are right . . . for fun in the valley, come day or night!

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Family Night

Friday night is family night on television. If you're just crazy for the small problems of young married couples, Friday night is your night. If, on the other hand, you figure you have enough small family problems of your own, Friday television may very well just drive you into the nearest saloon.

You can start—if you're manic enough—with the Stuart Erwins (ABC-TV 7:30 p. m, EDT). The Erwins have been on the air quite a spell now, long enough for the show to degenerate into pure and not so pure farce. The last one I looked at was a case of mistaken identity between a guy dressed up as a gorilla and a real gorilla. You can imagine what that led to. The colored man who acts as comic relief on this show ran right through a garage door, leaving his outline on the wood—just to give you some idea. Haven't seen that gag since the days of Mack Sennett.

The Erwin show sounds pretty much as if they're making it up as they go along and the acting, to put it as charitably as possible, is perfunctory. The Erwins and their children more or less walk through it with set expressions of dismay, especially on Stu Erwin. The whole family is unbearably wholesome. In other words, you'll never find anything that your whole family can't walk out on without offending anyone.

After you have your fill of the Erwins, you have your choice of two families. There is "Mama" with Peggy Wood on CBS-TV or there are Ozzie and Harriet on ABC-TV: Mama, of course, is pre-World War I immigrant stuff and, as family comedy goes, it's pretty good. The situations are fairly authentic. It's well acted and produced. It just isn't very funny (and isn't intended to be) and the Scandinavian dialect grates on my nerves after a bit.

For my money, Ozzie and Harriet Nelson are the most entertaining family around. Their children Ricky and David (played by themselves) sound like awfully nice kids and they are not so all-fired full of fresh air and wholesomeness that you'd like to kick them.. The situations the Nelsons get themselves into are largely contrived by Ozzie who is a sort of all-American innocent male, who can be bamboozled by children and without trouble.

But the dialogue, much of it written by Nelson, shows a certain understanding of human beings and has great humor. You hardly ever hear a voice raised on the Ozzie and Harriet show; the situations remain well within the bounds of probability and—well—they're an awfully nice family.

The Erwins are strictly middle class; the Nelsons are sort of upper middle class suburbia. If you want to go slumming in the lower classes then you drop in on the Rileys ("Life Of Riley" (8:30 p. m. EDT NBC-TV). Riley (William Bendix), a worker in a machine shop or some such thing, is easily the stupidest of a whole array of stupid husbanuds and does the longest double takes currently to be seen on television. He has a fairly dopey wife and a moronic teen-age daughter and a wise-cracking next door neighbor, named Gillis.

And the dialogue? Well, Riley's wife was reading him the paper one day. "Police urged to stop necking in the parking." "Well," said Riley, "it's high time. Those cops shouldn't be necking all the time." Most of the rest of it is equally tiresome.

When you get real fed up on this sort of family comedy—the one with the children underfoot—you can turn on the only childless couple around, Mr. and Mrs. North whose problems are not at all wholesome or ordinary. Here romance rears its pretty marcelled head. When the Norths are stumbling over freshly dead corpses, they're kissing. Marital love has survived an unbroken succession of homicides which, it sometimes seems, stretches all the way back to Cain killing Abel. And in all that time Barbara Britton, who plays Jane North, has never even got her hair mussed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Family Night

Friday night is family night on television. If you're just crazy for the small problems of young married couples, Friday night is your night. If, on the other hand, you figure you have enough small family problems of your own, Friday television may very well just drive you into the nearest saloon.

You can start—if you're manic enough—with the Stuart Erwins (ABC-TV 7:30 p. m. EDT). The Erwins have been on the air quite a spell now, long enough for the show to degenerate into pure and not so pure farce. The last one I looked at was a case of mistaken identity between a guy dressed up as a gorilla and a real gorilla. You can imagine what that led to. The colored man who acts as comic relief on this show ran right through a garage door, leaving his outline on the wood—just to give you some idea. Haven't seen that gag since the days of Mack Sennett.

The Erwin show sounds pretty much as if they're making it up as they go along and the acting, to put it as charitably as possible, is perfunctory. The Erwins and their children more or less walk through it with set expressions of dismay, especially on Stu Erwin. The whole family is unbearably wholesome. In other words, you'll never find anything that your whole family can't walk out on without offending anyone.

After you have your fill of the Erwins, you have your choice of two families. There is "Mama" with Peggy Wood on CBS-TV or there are Ozzie and Harriet on ABC-TV: Mama, of course, is pre-World War I immigrant stuff and, as family comedy goes, it's pretty good. The situations are fairly authentic. It's well acted and produced. It just isn't very funny (and isn't intended to be) and the Scandinavian dialect grates on my nerves after a bit.

For my money, Ozzie and Harriet Nelson are the most entertaining family around. Their children Ricky and David (played by themselves) sound like awfully nice kids and they are not so all-fired full of fresh air and wholesomeness that you'd like to kick them.. The situations the Nelsons get themselves into are largely contrived by Ozzie who is a sort of all-American innocent male, who can be bamboozled by children and without trouble.

But the dialogue, much of it written by Nelson, shows a certain understanding of human beings and has great humor. You hardly ever hear a voice raised on the Ozzie and Harriet show; the situations remain well within the bounds of probability and—well—they're an awfully nice family.

The Erwins are strictly middle class; the Nelsons are sort of upper middle class suburbia. If you want to go slumming in the lower classes then you drop in on the Rileys ("Life Of Riley" (8:30 p. m. EDT NBC-TV). Riley (William Bendix), a worker in a machine shop or some such thing, is easily the stupidest of a whole array of stupid husbanuds and does the longest double takes currently to be seen on television. He has a fairly dopey wife and a moronic teen-age daughter and a wise-cracking next door neighbor, named Gillis.

And the dialogue? Well, Riley's wife was reading him the paper one day. "Police urged to stop necking in the parking." "Well," said Riley, "it's high time. Those cops shouldn't be necking all the time." Most of the rest of it is equally tiresome.

When you get real fed up on this sort of family comedy—the one with the children underfoot—you can turn on the only childless couple around, Mr. and Mrs. North whose problems are not at all wholesome or ordinary. Here romance rears its pretty marcelled head. When the Norths are stumbling over freshly dead corpses, they're kissing. Marital love has survived an unbroken succession of homicides which, it sometimes seems, stretches all the way back to Cain killing Abel. And in all that time Barbara Britton, who plays Jane North, has never even got her hair mussed.

County Board Answers Query On School Bonds

"For the fiscal year July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954 the county commissioners have made provisions in their budget for a contemplated bond issue of $1,500,000. It would appear, however, that none of these bonds will be offered for sale during the last half of the calendar year 1953.

"It is expected that the bonds (a $3,500,000 total issue) will be sold within the next five years in that the entire issue authorized was to underwrite a five-year school building program.

"The county has had a very favorable experience in financing school construction by general bond issues and the most troublesome matter does not arise in the method of financing, rather the extent of such financing.

"It appears there is a disproportionate cost for school construction per pupil which we are trying to work out with the Board of Education. It is our thought that the school construction needs is a matter of national significance and that federal participation in such programs should not be restricted to areas in which there is 'federal impact.'

"Current market conditions have been such that it is entirely possible that it will be more practical for Allegany County to borrow state school construction funds than to issue the county's own bonds to finance the school program. Up to this time however, it has been found to be more feasible to issue bonds than to take advantage of the state fund in that these funds must be repaid in their entirety within a period of 15 years. The maturity of county bonds has been spread out over periods of 25 years so as to lessen the immediate tax burden."

Stock Prices Close Mixed As Volume Hits Low Level

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Stock market volume dropped to the lowest level since last August today and the session ended with prices thoroughly mixed.

Volume of 890,000 shares was the smallest since Aug. 29, 1952, when the same number of shares traded. Yesterday, transactions totaled 1,010,000 shares, with the market ending a little higher.

Fractional improvement was shown by Chrysler, Goodyear, Deere, Boeing, Admiral Motorola Commonwealth Edison, American Woolen, Ohio Oil, American Tobacco, New York Central, Cities Service, Halliburton and Hayes Industries—the last on an increase in dividend.

County Board Answers Query On School Bonds

In reply to a query from the bond editor of the Wall Street Journal concerning Allegany County's school bond situation the commissioners have given the following answers:

"For the fiscal year July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954 the county commissioners have made provisions in their budget for a contemplated bond issue of $1,500,000. It would appear, however, that none of these bonds will be offered for sale during the last half of the calendar year 1953.

"It is expected that the bonds (a $3,500,000 total issue) will be sold within the next five years in that the entire issue authorized was to underwrite a five-year school building program.

"The county has had a very favorable experience in financing school construction by general bond issues and the most troublesome matter does not arise in the method of financing, rather the extent of such financing.

"It appears there is a disproportionate cost for school construction per pupil which we are trying to work out with the Board of Education. It is our thought that the school construction needs is a matter of national significance and that federal participation in such programs should not be restricted to areas in which there is 'federal impact.'

"Current market conditions have been such that it is entirely possible that it will be more practical for Allegany County to borrow state school construction funds than to issue the county's own bonds to finance the school program. Up to this time however, it has been found to be more feasible to issue bonds than to take advantage of the state fund in that these funds must be repaid in their entirety within a period of 15 years. The maturity of county bonds has been spread out over periods of 25 years so as to lessen the immediate tax burden."

Westernport Coal Mine Operator Electrocuted At Work

Thomas Clark Is Found Dead By Nephew

Victim Felled By 'Hot' Signal Line

Thomas S. Clark, 54-year-old coal mine operator, was electrocuted yesterday while he was repairing wiring in a signalling system at his Stoney Run mine near Westernport.

Clark, the father of seven children, was found dead at 3 p. m. by his nephew, James Lewis Lambert, with whom he had been working the mine.

Lambert said he and his uncle had been working in separate sections of the fire coal mine, and that he had not seen Clark for a few hours before his death.

T. S. Clark

It was nearly quitting time when Lambert decided to look for his uncle. He found him slumped over the 110-volt wiring about 150 feet inside the mine tunnel.

The wire, which fed an electrical signalling system inside the mine, was still plugged into its power supply.

Tried To Splice Wires

Lambert jerked out the plug, then ran for help. Arthur Braithwaite, who lives near the mine, returned to the scene with Lambert and removed the wires from Clark's badly burned hands.

Lambert said there had been a break in the line, and that his uncle apparently had tried to repair it while the current was on.

Braithwaite and Lambert called Dr. P. E. Berry of Piedmont, W. Va., who said Clark had been dead since about 2:30 p. m. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner for Allegany County, gave an official verdict of death by electrocution and shock.

Also investigating were Frank T. Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, and State Police Trooper First Class Milton G. Hart.

Clark, a native of Stoney Run, had operated the small mine for the past four years. He had previously been employed at the Masteller Coal Company mine at Hampshire, W. Va.

Leaves Widow, 7 Children

A son of the late Jefferson and Emma (Miller) Clark, he is survived by his widow, Mrs Sarah (Robertson) Clark; five daughters, Mrs. June Diehl and Mrs. Sylvia Duckworth, both of Stoney Run; Mrs. Margaret Brashear, Greene's Addition, Westernport; Mrs. Zelda Ross, Washington, and Mrs. Ella Jean Rizer, Fair Oaks, Pa.; two sons, Pfc. Charles J. Clark, with outstanding Lutheran Student Center building there.

Pastor Korte is well known for his preaching and speaking on a wide variety of subjects and recently served as religious advisor for the state convention of the Senior Extension Club and as discussion leader for the Lutheran Student Association conference at Buck Hill Falls, Pa. He also addressed the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors during their convention in Harrisburg last February.

Corriganville Vet Found Dead Of Heart Attack

A 39-year-old Corriganville World War II veteran was found dead in the cellar of his home late Thursday night and authorities attributed death to a heart attack.

Dr. H. V. Deming, county deputy medical examiner, said Edwin Franklin Petenbrink, 39, RFD 1, Corriganville, died about 11 p. m. Thursday.

Dr. Deming added Petenbrink's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth (Paupach) Petenbrink, came home Thursday night and saw the house in darkness and the front door open. Looking through a cellar window she saw her husband lying on the cellar floor and called neighbors.

Mr. Petenbrink was born January 1, 1914 in Hooversville, Pa., a son of the late William H and Jennie (Swain) Petenbrink. He was a truck driver for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here.

Serving five years in the service, Mr. Petenbrink was a member of the 11th Airborne Infantry, 511th Regiment, during World War II. A graduate of Allegany High School, he was a member of the Methodist Church and Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company.

Motorcyclist Is Hurt In Collision With Automobile

Guy A. Evans In Memorial Hospital

Guy Alston Evans, Route 1, Oldtown, was admitted to Memorial Hospital with severe lacerations of the right leg, a probable fracture of the leg, and scalp lacerations.

He was in "fairly good" condition last night and a cast was applied to the leg.

City Police Officer Louis D. Downey said Evans was going east on Oldtown Road at 12:55 p. m. when he struck a car being driven in the opposite direction by John Frederick Bartles, 23, of Route 4, Mexico Farms.

Both drivers, said Downey, apparently misjudged the speed of the other vehicle. No charges have been preferred. Damages to the 1936-model car was estimated at $20, and to the motorcycle, at $100.

Transit Line Seeks Extension Of Local Route

The Cumberland Transit Lines has applied to the Maryland Public Service Commission to extend its Narrows Park route to Frostburg and Lonaconing in the event the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company is granted an order to abandon its operations.

The local carrier operates buses in the city and from Cumberland to Narrows Park, State Line, Cresaptown, Wiley Ford and Ridgeley.

Through William C. Walsh, attorney for Guy M. and Marie Elizabeth Davis, trading as Cumberland Transit Lines, the commission was informed that the application supplemented the previous communication sent the PSC by Davis on May 15.

On that date it was publicly announced the C&W Board of Directors voted to advise its stockholders to abandon the firm's operations.

The local company pointed out that its lines extend west from Cumberland to Narrows Park on Route 40 west on part of the route which the C&W uses in coming to the city.

The application stated Cumberland Transit "could extend its operations from Narrows Park and from Frostburg to Lonaconing without any increase in overhead and without any substantial increase in its equipment, all of which would be in the interest of cheaper service to the public as compared to the expenses which would be incurred by a new company."

The Public Service Commission, in revealing the application by Cumberland Transit, also reported that a group of employes of the C&W Transit Company had written the PSC in regard to taking over the franchise.

This group of the older employes had consulted an attorney and informed the commission it believed financial backing could be obtained.

It was understood today the older employes are still on notice with the PSC of their intention.

In the Cumberland Transit Lines application, attention was drawn to the difficulty many bus operations are experiencing in making a profit, due to declining revenue and increasing expenses.

This is shown, the application said, in the move of the C&W to abandon its service, and the granting of a fare increase by the PSC to the local bus line.

However, the local firm was advised, the petition states, that the C&W operation between Cumberland and Frostburg and between Frostburg and Lonaconing was profitable, as it passed through LaVale which has a population of from 5,600 to 6,000 persons and through Midland and Gilmore to Lonaconing, where there is considerable population.

In his letter of May 15, Davis pointed out that the "C&W has been losing money on the entire operation between Cumberland and Westernport, and in our opinion these losses occur between Frostburg and Westernport, as according to the article (the newspaper account of the C&W Board's decision), 60 per cent of the company's business arises between Cumberland and Frostburg, which is a distance of only 11 miles, while only 40 per cent of the business is obtained between Frostburg and Westernport, which is a distance of 16 miles."

State Bar Association Opposes Holding Persons Incommunicado

Lawyers Give Wide Support To Resolution

Want Assurance Rights Will Be Safeguarded

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., (R-Allegany) has been sparking a drive against the practice and it was his resolution acted upon today by the association convention.

Passes After Debate

The resolution, he said, passed nearly unanimously after some debate and opposition.

The action is to be called to the attention of the state Legislative Council.

The resolution said in part:

"The association wishes to go on record that it discourages and looks with disfavor upon any practice in Maryland of persons being held in custody without a warrant incommunicado, without the advice of counsel or friends, for unreasonable lengths of time by any law enforcement officer in Maryland."

The resolution said the association "is ever mindful of the dangers of the creeping paralysis of a police state and is mindful of our personal liberties as guaranteed by our constitution and the Bill of Rights, and therefore calls upon the Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly to give serious consideration to the law of arrest and detention of persons in Maryland.

It said this study should be made to "insure that the personal and constitutional rights and privileges of those taken into custody without a warrant, for investigation only and held incommunicado, shall not be unduly restrained or infringed upon by the apprehending officers of the law and by the various state's attorneys in the counties and Baltimore City."

A hearing was held at Hagerstown May 22 by a special committee of the legislative counsel which has charge of seeing if Maryland has adequate laws against improper arrest and long detention. The group was headed by State Sen. McLaughlin (R-Washington). Specifically, it heard the story of a Cumberland man held nearly a week without ever being charged.

The committee has as yet made no formal report to the Legislative Council on the hearing.

Airing Street Projects With SRC Postponed

A meeting of city and state officials to discuss city street plans that will be tied in with state highway developments has been postponed until July 9.

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday said he had received a letter from Russell H. McCain, chairman of the State Roads Commission, requesting the postponement. McCain said SRC representatives would be unable to be here next Thursday, the date originally set for the meeting.

The Mayor and Council, the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, residents of the Frederick Street section and other Cumberlanders are to confer with McCain and his engineers.

McCain said the SRC engineering staff has presented to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission an alternate cross-city highway that would replace the crosstown bridge that had been projected.

He said this new plan takes into consideration the entrance to the C&O Canal Parkway in the Community Park area.

On the agenda at the July 9 meeting will be the crosstown bridge alternate plan, which McCain said involves a route from Valley Road; the Frederick-Bedford Street traffic program, which will make Route 220 one-way on the two thoroughfares, with Bedford entering the city, and other local work.

McCain said he was forced to cancel the visit to Cumberland next Thursday because of an important meeting of the three members of the commission and its chief engineer with the National Planning Commission and other groups in Washington.

Westernport Coal Mine Operator Electrocuted At Work

Thomas Clark Is Found Dead By Nephew

Victim Felled By 'Hot' Signal Line

Thomas S. Clark, 54-year-old coal mine operator, was electrocuted yesterday while he was repairing wiring in a signalling system at his Stoney Run mine near Westernport.

Clark, the father of seven children, was found dead at 3 p. m. by his nephew, James Lewis Lambert, with whom he had been working the mine.

Lambert said he and his uncle had been working in separate sections of the fire coal mine, and that he had not seen Clark for a few hours before his death.

T. S. Clark

It was nearly quitting time when Lambert decided to look for his uncle. He found him slumped over the 110-volt wiring about 150 feet inside the mine tunnel.

The wire, which fed an electrical signalling system inside the mine, was still plugged into its power supply.

Tried To Splice Wires

Lambert jerked out the plug, then ran for help. Arthur Braithwaite, who lives near the mine, returned to the scene with Lambert and removed the wires from Clark's badly burned hands.

Lambert said there had been a break in the line, and that his uncle apparently had tried to repair it while the current was on.

Braithwaite and Lambert called Dr. P. E. Berry of Piedmont, W. Va., who said Clark had been dead since about 2:30 p. m. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner for Allegany County, gave an official verdict of death by electrocution and shock.

Also investigating were Frank T. Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, and State Police Trooper First Class Milton G. Hart.

Clark, a native of Stoney Run, had operated the small mine for the past four years. He had previously been employed at the Masteller Coal Company mine at Hampshire, W. Va.

Airing Street Projects With SRC Postponed

A meeting of city and state officials to discuss city street plans that will be tied in with state highway developments has been postponed until July 9.

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday said he had received a letter from Russell H. McCain, chairman of the State Roads Commission, requesting the postponement. McCain said SRC representatives would be unable to be here next Thursday, the date originally set for the meeting.

The Mayor and Council, the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, residents of the Frederick Street section and other Cumberlanders are to confer with McCain and his engineers.

McCain said the SRC engineering staff has presented to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission an alternate cross-city highway that would replace the crosstown bridge that had been projected.

He said this new plan takes into consideration the entrance to the C&O Canal Parkway in the Community Park area.

On the agenda at the July 9 meeting will be the crosstown bridge alternate plan, which McCain said involves a route from Valley Road; the Frederick-Bedford Street traffic program, which will make Route 220 one-way on the two thoroughfares, with Bedford entering the city, and other local work.

McCain said he was forced to cancel the visit to Cumberland next Thursday because of an important meeting of the three members of the commission and its chief engineer with the National Planning Commission and other groups in Washington.
